AUGS Canteen Nights offer a unique fundraiser

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

No candy sales. No tulip bulbs. Instead. Dancing. Games and lots of fun.

The Antioch Upper Grade School (AUGS) PTO is in its second year of a totally different concept of fund-raising, with emphasis on the first three letters, "fun."

Steve Alberts, AUGS teacher and athletic director, along with some other teachers came up with the idea 22 years ago. Originally it was done as a "business" by the teachers, holding a dance/event each Friday.

The original group of teachers did it for about ten years, with another group taking over. Wes Owens and Rachel Hewitt were the two teachers who headed the activity nights until the 1998-99 school year.

The PTO took it over last year, averaging just over 200 students attending each night. This was able to make about $11,000 for the PTO, which goes back into school programs.

"That's the important thing" said Mary Ellen Casey, PTO event chairperson. "The money raised goes back into the school through purchasing items teachers need for classrooms or if they need help with field trips and things like that."

With this year's average attendance hovering between 300-400, estimates are the program will raise around $17,000.

The Canteens are held every other Friday, twice per month, with the exception of December, which had one on Dec. 3, due to the holidays.

Each event tries to have a different theme, such as sports, disco or sock hop, explained Casey. A Hawaiian Night proved popular.

There is always a suggested dress theme and some type of contest, which generally goes along with it. An example was the sports night, which included a home run derby contest with a whiffle ball.

A dance contest is always included.

Antioch Chamber Board nominations close Dec. 13

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

Nominees for the 2000 Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry Board of Directors are being accepted.

Chamber members have until Monday, Dec. 13, to submit nominations. Up to three nominees may be received from one member.

Those nominated must be Chamber members, be willing to serve a three-year term on the board, be willing to chair at least one event and serve on one other event committee.

Barbara Porch, Chamber executive director, explained nominees will be phoned following the closing of nominations to assure they understand the duties of a board member, would be willing to serve if elected and desire to be included on the voting ballot.

Voting ballots are anticipated to be mailed out to Chamber members no later than Dec. 15, with a return deadline of Dec. 23.

Following a change in Chamber by-laws, the board will be reduced to seven members with this election.

Board members whose terms are expiring are Melonnie Hartl, Mary Ann Kuhn, Jan Lyons, Dee Dee Palmer and Dan Sills. Should they desire or be nominated, all five would be allowed to run for another term.

Only three positions are available in this election.

Board members whose terms are continuing are Dan Boarini, Karen Dunham, John Ruffin and Alice Wegener.

Chamber members desiring to make nominations can either drop them off at the Chamber office, mail them or fax them.

First snowfall brings regulation reminder

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

With the first measurable snow fall Dec. 5, it is time to remind Antioch residents of the winter snow plowing regulations.

After one inch of snow accumulates, there is no parking allowed on any village street until snow removal has been completed.

Joe Huber, commissioner of streets, reminds residents: no plowing, snow blowing or shoveling of snow onto village streets is permitted.

If mail boxes are located too close to the edge of the road, it is difficult to remove snow from the full width of the street. U.S. Postal guidelines should be followed regarding placement of mailboxes.

Snow plowing procedures will be slightly different this year than in the past.

Following complaints received about snow being pushed in driveways several times during a snow storm, Huber is adjusting the plowing plan.

"This year we will again make one pass in each direction on village streets and plow the remainder of the street at the end of the storm," Huber said.

This procedure is to reduce the number of times snow is pushed into driveways.

On cul-de-sacs, village crews will make one pass with the plows and then finish the clean-up at the end of the storm.

Some subdivisions will have private companies contracted out by the village for snow removal.

Subdivisions affected are Heron Harbor, Falcon Hills, Pine Hill Lakes, Windmill Creek, Eagle Ridge, Antioch Hills, Hidden Creek, Tiffany Farms and Woods of Antioch.

Any problems with snow removal in these subdivisions or anywhere within the village should be referred to the village hall 395-1000 or the public works department 395-1881.

'A walking miracle'

Breast cancer survivor offers link of hope

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

"Call me a walking miracle."

Diana L. Brenner of Bristol, Wis., has accepted her diagnosis with breast cancer as a fighter.

The checkout clerk at Jewel Food Store in Antioch is making the best of her circumstances. Having been diagnosed two years ago, the mother of four is using her knowledge of cancer to extend her hand to others.

"When I was diagnosed, I was trying to reach out and there was no one to turn to," Brenner said, recalling her feelings in October, 1997, when first diagnosed.

In researching the availability of support, Brenner found the closest group to her home was in Burlington, Wis.

"It's kind of hard, especially when you're first diagnosed."

Brenner admits.

Brenner's family has faced its share of cancer. Harriet Rodriguez, her mother, died at age 60 in 1990.

"Mom lasted five years after the doctor told her she only had a year to live," Brenner said.

Four aunts on her mother's side preceded her mother's death, all from cancer. This past October, a cousin on her mother's side died of cancer, days short of her 50th birthday.

"All of those women provided a smoother path for us," Brenner said of today's cancer survivors. "If I can help one other woman have a smoother path, it's been worth it."

Brenner found a "very strong" women's support group in Racine. That is the closest to this area.

As a result, Brenner is offering her own support to anyone requesting it.

"I could never have gotten through this without the love and support of my husband, Michael, my children, Michael, April, James and David, and all of my family," Brenner said.

Brenner has especially enjoyed support from the benefits office for Jewel, located in Utah. The time which Brenner is volunteering is part of the over 100,000 hours of community service being donated by Jewel employees. The 100,000 hour goal coincides with Jewel-Osco's 100-year anniversary.

"Many women are unable to keep their jobs," Brenner said. "I'm fortunate. The corporate office was extremely helpful."

"Seventy-five percent of treatment is your outlook and how you feel," Brenner explained. "My oncologist tells me I must have a positive outlook."

July 4 celebration will be on July 4

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

July 4 will be July 4. That is the word from the Antioch village board which unanimously declared July 4 will be on July 4, 2000.

Tim Wells, village manager, put the topic on the board's Dec. 6 meeting agenda.

Wells explained his reasoning due to July 4 being on a Tuesday in 2000 and a Thursday in 2001.

Availability of volunteers who are instrumental in the various holiday events and having a work day the following day were major points raised by trustees during discussion.

In the end, the board unanimously agreed to celebrate July 4 on Tuesday next year.

The status of the village celebration in 2001 will be left to the village board to ponder next year.

In related issues, the board agreed to request parade organizers to notify emergency vehicles that "sporadic noise" will be acceptable, provided it is between the high school and Lake St. Once the vehicles are within the closed in downtown buildings, between Lake St. and Orchard, the vehicles would be requested to discontinue use of their sirens.

Another matter raising questions of safety for children watching the parade is persons throwing candy from moving vehicles.

Parade organizers will once again emphasize nothing is to be thrown from vehicles. Recommendation will be to have people walking next to the vehicles who can go up to persons along the route and hand out any candy, etc.

Time melting away for holiday contests

Time is running out for two of the Antioch area holiday contests. The Holiday Lights of Antioch, sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry and CAN, features judging Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 11-12.

The residential outdoor holiday decorating contest is open to any village residents.

Prizes include $1,000 worth of Chamber gift certificates.

The second fun event is to "Find Frosty."

Participating merchants have had forms available for customers to fill in the amount of snowmen which can be found in their store front windows.

Completed forms need to be turned in on or before Dec. 10.

Drawing will be Dec. 12.—By Michael H. Babicz

Board approves sewer/water bonds

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

The Antioch Village Board moved closer to having the expansion of its water and sewer systems to the east.

The board held a public hearing under the Bond Issue Notification Act at the opening of the Dec. 6 board meeting.

Harold Warren, consultant to the village regarding bonds, explained the hearing is required by the act which was passed three to four years ago.

This allows for public comment regarding the plans to issue the bonds.

The anticipated general obligation bonds will not exceed $5 million. The bonds will be used to finance the improvement and extension costs to the village's existing waterworks and sewerage system.

Included will be construction of water transmission mains, fire hydrant assemblies, valves in vaults, landscape restoration, water storage facility and well for the water portion of the project.

Installation of sewer transmission mains to a point of connection with the Lake County Mill Creek Regional Wastewater Facility will be included.

All of these facets of the project will be used to complete the East Facilities Planning Area utilities program for the village.

Village Manager Tim Wells explained to the board the actual funding of the project will come from a special assessment with a "backup" letter of credit from the two principle landowners at this time. Representatives from both landowners have signed off on agreements with the village to cover the costs.

The agreement with the landowners calls for the village to sell the bonds by June, 2000 with the improvements completed by December, 2000.

"In no way will the current system users pay for the improvements," Wells emphasized.

Warren explained the next step in the procedure for the bonds is 30 days publication of the authorizing ordinance for the issuance of the bonds.

"This is the very first step until we actually get into the bond ordinance," Warren said. "It indicates to the public that the village has authorized the bonds, the project scope and what the village intends to do."

In summary, Warren explains it indicates the village intends to move forward with the project. This allows voters within the village the opportunity to object to the planned project or file a petition.

Once the 30 days has expired, depending upon if any petitions are received, which at this time are not anticipated, Wells, Warren and the village's bond counsel will meet, along with the village attorney, to formulate the actual bond sale agreement.

Festival Arts hosts concert, 'Messiah'

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

Festival Arts of Antioch will be presenting a pair of holiday performances.

The first is "A Traditional Family Christmas Concert."

The free performance is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 12 at the United Methodist Church on Main Street in Antioch.

This family-oriented event will include the Lakes Area Community Band along with singers from the Antioch Community Choir.

Free refreshments will be available following the concert.

The second production is Handel's "Messiah" at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 19 at St. Peter's Church, 557 Lake Street, in Antioch.

The event has become a Antioch tradition over the past few years.

Ralph Brooke from Antioch will direct an 80-90 voice chorus which will be accompanied by Chris Kucher of Grayslake on piano and the Tim Montalvo string ensemble.

Guest soloists are soprano Carolyn Irvin from Chicago, tenor Bill Chamberlain from Chicago and bass Nick Solomon from Deerfield.

Admission is again free.

NIGHTS: Fund-raising success

"It gives them a lot of different activities to do and a safe place to be on a Friday night where they are supervised," Casey said.

At a $4 admission price, included are the various contests, DJ dancing and different games. The games, such as foosball, pool, ping pong and air hockey are available in the cafeteria.

Concessions such as pop, pizza, hot dogs, etc. are offered at nominal additional cost.

"Parents are real supportive," Casey said. "We have eight to ten chaperones each time. We have people calling us."

"At the $4 price, it's cheaper than going to the movies," Casey added.

Overhead is kept down with a volunteer mother providing DJ services. A security officer and six teachers are paid by the PTO. The principal or assistant principal are also in attendance.

The Canteen is open to AUGS students. The only exception is if a student has been placed in "isolation" during the previous two weeks, they are not allowed to attend.

Forms for students from other schools to "visit" are available at the school office.

"This is our only fund raiser," Casey emphasized. "It has replaced all of our other fund raisers. That's one of the reasons the parents like it so much."

The next Teen Canteen is scheduled January 7 with Millennium Night. Futuristic Far Out Fashions will be the dress with a jump rope contest planned.

MIRACLE: Cancer survivor gives hope to women still in the battle for life

"Live for today," Brenner emphasized. "No one is promised to-morrow."

Brenner knows what she is talking about. Besides losing her mother, aunts and a cousin, she has lost a brother at age 23, murdered, and a second brother two weeks prior to her mother having been killed at age 39 in an auto accident.

"I like to help people keep a positive outlook," said Brenner, a certified volunteer for the American Cancer Society's Reach to Recovery program.

In addition to being listed through the cancer society, Brenner makes sure her doctors, nurses, and others know she is always willing to talk with someone facing breast cancer.

"Sometimes I talk with women over the phone, some at the house and sometimes I have to go straight to the hospital to meet with them," Brenner explained.

Education is a focus for Brenner. Not only education others, but herself, as well. Aware of breast cancer having four stages and five different types, Brenner has become knowledgeable in various choices of treatment.

"There's so many different things they can do," Brenner said. "I went to Madison, choosing not to have my breast removed. I ended up with a lumpectomy."

Depending upon the procedures used, women now often end up with an outpatient mastectomy, for example.

This fails to give the women enough time to realize what is happening and talk with anyone about it.

Another aspect of Brenner's volunteerism is her participation in Relief for Life. This program is held once per year throughout the United States. People volunteer to be part of a team which walks between 18 and 24 hours. A member of the team is continuously on the track. The participants receive sponsors who donate money for each hour the team completes. Another big day for Brenner is June 7 which is traditionally Cancer Survivor Day observed throughout the country.

The various ribbons and pins which are part of Brenner's Jewel uniform bring about inquiries from customers.

"My customers have been supportive," Brenner said. "Some sent cards and many asked how I was doing."

Some doctors are taking advantage of recommending patients to contact the American Cancer Society. This in turn gets newly diagnosed cancer patients in contact with volunteers like Brenner.

"We try to stick to the same age and circumstances," Brenner said regarding which volunteers talk with specific callers. "I talked with a 70-year-old lady who originally felt bad because she didn't think I could relate to her. I reminded her we're all in this together."

For Brenner, her battle continues. Every three months she visits her oncologist to be checked. Consideration is being given to having a bone scan.

"I'm feeling good," Brenner said. "The doctor has told me to keep that positive attitude. I'm sure I get my strength from my mom."

Self-examination key to cancer detection

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

"Regarding choices, cancer victims need to have more and women need to know them," Brenner said.

The main fear which Brenner sees women having once diagnosed is that they will lose their breast. This is not always the case. This is why Brenner sees education, knowledge of options and making choices as the need for women once they have been diagnosed.

"With a majority of cancer, if caught at an early stage, the chance of survival is like 90 percent," Brenner points out.

"Fear, like anything, could kill you," Brenner states. "Keep the faith. Keep positive thinking. Reach out to the next woman and stand hand in hand. There is strength in numbers."

Former Lindenhurst police officer sued in Holiday Hills sexual assault

By MICHAEL J. BIVONA
Staff Reporter

Troy M. Hetz, 31, a Holiday Hills Police Officer, resigned Dec. 2, after being charged with bribery and official misconduct.

Hetz's resignation came after he pulled over a 20-year-old McHenry County woman for speeding at about 8pm in Richmond, a neighboring community of Holiday Hills, and allegedly sexually assaulted her Dec. 1.

The woman, driving under a judicial driving permit issued by a court order, was driving during a restricted time according to the permit's guidelines.

After warning the woman she could be arrested, the woman was allegedly forced to follow Hetz to a secluded gravel road where she claims she was sexually assaulted.

The woman is now suing Hetz and the village for "negligent hiring."

In April of 1996, Hetz resigned from the Lindenhurst Police Department after being accused of sexually fondling a woman while on duty and in uniform.

According to Chief Jack McKeever, the Holiday Hills Police Department contacted him before hiring Hetz in 1998.

"We gave a full disclosure of the officer," McKeever explained. "What I told him (Holiday Hills) is that if I was in their circumstance, where I was considering hiring him again, I would have to say yes."

The '96 incident brought a suit to Hetz and the Village of Lindenhurst and was later dropped.

After resigning from the Lindenhurst Department he joined the Hainesville Police Department before being hired in Holiday Hills as a part time officer in October, 1998.

McKeever mentioned that although there was no possibility of Hetz coming back to Lindenhurst, he could see how another department would take a chance on him before the incident last week.

"He's a very bright, pleasant person. There was nothing remarkable in his past when we hired him. That includes his psychological evaluation," McKeever said.

Thomas C. Weathersby, 24, of 40478 Fairview St., Antioch, was arrested on Nov. 27 at 2:33 a.m. at Grass Lake Rd. and Oakland for driving while license suspended. He will have a Grayslake court date of Jan. 5.

Father, son fought law, the law won

By CAROLYN LYNCH
Staff Reporter

A father and son were arrested the night of Dec. 3 after allegedly assaulting several police officers at Mickey Finn's Restaurant and Brewery, 412 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville.

Libertyville police responded to the brewery around 9:30 p.m., following a complaint of an "extremely large, unwanted subject."

Richard L. Ellis, 53, of 1906 Forest Creek Dr., Libertyville, had been touching, groping and verbally harassing female patrons, according to the complaint. After being asked to leave by the management, Ellis allegedly began to create a disturbance and threaten employees.

When responding officers approached the 6-foot-3-inch, 265-pound Ellis, he attacked the bartender, according to authorities. As officers began to place Ellis under arrest, they heard glass breaking behind them.

Richard Ellis' son, Arick R. Ellis, 26, of 1906 Forest Creek Dr., allegedly threw a beer bottle at the three officers and began verbally berating them and others present. Richard Ellis fought with the arresting officers, while his son continued breaking glass and yelling, according to police. Arick Ellis was subsequently also placed under arrest.

After being hand-cuffed and pepper-sprayed, both subjects continued to threaten the officers, according to police. Additional officers were called to help secure and transport the perpetrators. In total, five officers were needed to subdue the men.

While being escorted from the bar, Richard Ellis became uncooperative and let his body go limp, according to authorities. Three officers had to carry him to the waiting squad car.

As Arick Ellis was being transported to the back stairs of Mickey Finn's, he also became uncooperative. He broke free of the escorting officer and began struggling with another officer, according to police.

He allegedly attempted to push the officer down the stairs, when they both fell to the ground. During the fall, the officer sustained injuries to his ribs, and Arick Ellis received a cut to his chin. He was taken to Condell Hospital, where he was treated and released.

Richard Ellis was charged with assault, resisting a peace officer, criminal trespass to real property and two counts of battery. Arick Ellis was charged with aggravated assault, resisting a peace officer and criminal trespass to real property.

Tax credit offered for Holocaust reparations

Individuals that receive World War II financial reparations would not have to pay taxes on them under a bill that passed the Senate, said sponsor State Senator Bill Peterson (R-Prairie View).

In 1998, a $1.25 billion settlement fund from two Swiss banks was set up to return money to Holocaust survivors and heirs all over the world. Current law asks recipients to pay taxes on these reparations.

"Finally many families are going to receive their money that was confiscated during World War II or that they deposited in banks and never got back," said Peterson. "We passed this bill so that those people will not have to pay taxes on their own money that was unlawfully taken away or held. And we want to prevent people that receive public assistance or some other benefit which is dependent on their income from being unnecessarily penalized."

House Bill 1120 creates a deduction for individuals and trusts/estates that receive money because of their status as a victim (or heir) of persecution by Nazi Germany or any other Axis regime. Any income or stolen assets including interest on insurance policies will also be deducted. However, the sale of any such items can be taxed.

'Tis the season to be jolly and hectic

fling schedules to accommodate all our blended family relatives. Shopping, shopping, shopping. You know there will be Flu bugs to battle, and snotty colds to ward off.

It wouldn't be Christmas without the annual family car ride through the newly developed subdivisions to "ooh" and "aah" at all those twinkling lights, and is anybody up for a trip to the City for a holiday play and dinner under the tree at Fields? And, as always, we must tend to the never ending list of every day household chores, to include, but not limited to: running errands, returning phone calls, laundry, scrubbing toilets and polishing silver.

Skate on State is just going to have to wait. So you see, as you sit drowning in your hot cocoa, wallowing in self-pity, be comforted in knowing you are not alone in your plight to prepare for the season—there's a lot of other folks out there just as miserable as you.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

There is help for needy

In the Oct. 4 issue, Publisher Bill Schroeder told of the plight of a Fox Lake daughter whose 78 year-old mother was lonely and depressed and it seemed she was the only resource her Antioch mother had to ease one situation.

Although I had the daughter's name, I was unable to locate her by directory assistance. I wanted to tell her about Community Telecare which checks on and brightens the day of many live-alones and shut-ins in the Antioch vicinity.

We have found some in crisis situations and taken appropriate action to the gratefulness of the family and victims.

The volunteers call during the mornings of Monday through Friday at no charge.

We would be delighted to make contact with the daughter and her mother or anyone else in need of our service founded 27 years ago.

Please call 395-9098.

The grand finale

That roast beef from the Stratford House in Grayslake is still on my mind, as are the final recognition's for the College of Lake County Fall Sports Banquet held at the Grayslake establishment a short time back.

With only one sophomore, it's scary to think the Lancer linksters could top the last season before heading into the millennium. But fasten those seatbelts because CLC golf fans and the like are in for a real treat come next fall.

This year's team finished at the top of the Skyway Conference and second in the State Region IV tournament.

Brett Skelley was named to the second team all-state as well as second team all-region and as a result, will be heading to the nationals next June in College Station, Texas. Skelley was voted the team's Most Improved Player. Joining him at nationals will be Michael Freeman, a runner-up medalist and first-team all-Skyway. Freeman then went on to take 10th place at the Region IV tournament.

Josh Navarro was also voted to the second team All-Skyway and finished eighth in the conference. In addition, Josh attained the feat most golfers dream of by scoring a hole-in-one on the 8th hole at CLC's home course, Steeple Chase in Mundelein.

Chris Brown led the Lancers this year and was rewarded by being named the team MVP. He was the medalist the first day at regionals, firing a 1-under-par 71. He wound up shooting an 81 the second day, finishing fifth. Brown was also named to first team All-State, first team All-Skyway, and will be making the trip with Skelley and Freeman to Nationals.

Other standout players for CLC included Miguel Dania, Walter Hinson, Anthony Jager, and Ed Niskala, the team's only sophomore.

Congratulations to head coach Bruce Crook and his team for an outstanding season.

The Lancer cross country team was no stranger to success as well.

The women's team finished second in the Skyway and third in the Region IV championships.

Megan Mitchell, the women's captain, finished sixth at Regionals and will be heading to the national meet.

Kate Aldridge earned the team's Sportsmanship Award, while freshman Jenny Hughes took home the Most Improved honor. Tiffanie Garbowicz and Susan Barnhouse also added depth and significant contributions to this year's team.

Turning the men's squad, former Grant Bulldog Eric Johnson was selected as the team's Most Improved male runner.

Dipakkumar Patel received the Sportsmanship Award while sophomore Mark Wagner was earned All-Skyway honors. Wagner ran his best race of the season at the regionals, finishing 10th overall and qualifying for Nationals.

Other standout members from the men's team that finished second in the conference and fourth at regionals includes Josh Sopczak, David Larsson and Chandrakant Patel.

Four down, one to go. Coach Sue Garcia's women's volleyball team had a sub-par season (by CLC standards). But there were many outstanding achievements, which we will highlight next week.

Sequoits put a sting into Zee-Bees

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Playing good defense and slowing down the tempo are two things that you have to do against a faster team.

And that's exactly what the Antioch boys varsity basketball team did Tuesday night in coming away with a 58-49 victory over host Zion-Benton in a key early-season North Suburban clash.

"We knew they had a lot of speed, so we got them into a half-court game," said head coach Jeff Dresser. "Our bench also did an outstanding job. They (Zion) are an excellent team. This was a good early-season win."

After the Zee-Bees scored the opening basket, Antioch used ball control and selective shooting in putting together an 18-5 run to close out the first quarter. They would never look back.

"We tried to keep our possessions to a premium," added Dresser. "We did a good job of shutting everyone else down, except (Andre) White."

Sharp-shooting guards Don Lackey and Eric White each tallied eight points apiece during the first quarter spurt. Antioch built its 18-8 lead on the strength of 7-of-10 field-goal shooting, including 4-for-7 from long distance. Furthermore, the Se-quoit defense held Zion to 2-of-12 shooting during the quarter.

The Sequoits, now 3-2 overall and 2-0 in the NSC, went up by as many as 16 points (41-25) after a trey by White with 3:05 left in the third quarter.

Things got a little interesting after that as Zion put on a 12-2 run to close the gap to 41-37. But Kyle Christopherson, who came off the bench to score 10 points, hit a short jumper to put an end to Zion's run. The 6-2 senior center also scored on a putback off Ari Brown's missed free-throw, keeping it at least a two-possession game as the visitors held a 56-49 advantage.

Good ballhandling and free-throws in the fourth quarter also helped preserve the win.

"We have some experienced guys on this team," said White, who finished with 15 points to lead the victors. "We knew they (Zion) would make a run, but we played our own game and did our jobs."

Lackey complemented White by chipping in 12 points, while Brown finished with seven.

Antioch returns home this Saturday for a 7:30 p.m. affair with Libertyville.

Zion freshman Andre White led all scorers with 22 points, including four three-pointers.

Lady Sequoits roller coaster ride continues

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

The Antioch varsity girls basketball team continued its roller-coaster ride last week, posting a victory over North Chicago Saturday before falling to Carmel on Tuesday night.

Against North Chicago, Antioch (2-5, 1-0 NSC) lead from start to finish in cruising to a 41-23 victory.

"North Chicago is a very scrappy team," said head coach Dave Woods. "They sat back in a 2-3 zone on defense most of the game, so it was difficult to penetrate. But we finally exploited their zone. Bethany (Shore) really stepped it up. She found the openings and hit some big shots from the perimeter."

Shore finished with 13 points and Erica Brown 8 for the winners.

Despite the win, Woods isn't happy about the turnovers and field-goal shooting.

"You need to do those things well if you want to play well against the better team," he said. "It was an ugly win tonight. We only shot 25 percent from the field."

Undefeated Carmel came calling on Tuesday night and the things that Woods said the team need to work on didn't really yield kind results.

Carmel got off to a big lead en route to a 50-37 non-conference victory.

"We didn't handle their pressure very well," added Woods. "Our inexperience really showed—we started three sophomores. I think we had 20 turnovers in the first half alone."

After the initial Corsair blitz, the Sequoits settled down the rest of the game. Antioch closed the gap to the final margin of defeat by outscoring the visitors 20-7 in the fourth quarter.

Brown paced the way with eight points and Lauren Reynolds added seven in the losing effort. Merideth Nelson and Amy Mueller each chipped in six.

"We keep telling ourselves that we are inexperienced and it will be a learning curve at times," noted Woods. "And sometimes that learning curve won't be too pleasant. But we played hard for four quarters and they (Carmel) definitely showed us some things we have to work on."

Antioch will get a chance to demonstrate just what they learned (better ballhandling and cutting down on turnovers) when it travels to Zion-Benton for a 7:30 p.m. tip-off this Friday. The Lady Sequoits then return home for a 2:30 date with Libertyville on Saturday.

"We didn't get into an offensive rhythm against Carmel," said Woods. "Plus, our defensive rotations were a little off."

Kelly Krombach poured in a game-high 24 points and Christine Martinson added nine for Carmel, now 9-0 on the year.

Former Sequoit striking up the band

Former Sequoit Gordy Persha of Antioch performed in the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater Warhawk Marching Band's halftime and post-game show at the Packers-Seahawks Monday Night Football game last month.

The 165 band and color guard members played to a crowd of over 60,000 fans at Lambeau Field. During the calendar year of 1999, the Warhawk marching band had performed in front of over 125,000 people. Last spring, UW-Whitewater's band and choir performed at the Brewers game opening day.

"This season was one for the record books. The combination of exceptional people, a strong work ethic, as well as dedication, was absolutely magical," said band director Glenn Hayes.

Hayes said this was the Warhawk Marching Band's eighth visit to Lambeau Field in the past ten years. The band has been to County Stadium twice.

The University of Wisconsin-Whitewater, founded in 1868, is the fourth largest campus in the 26-campus UW system. The university enrolls 10,600 students, employs a staff of 1,200, and has an annual operating budget of $120 million. UW-Whitewater provides 42 undergraduate and 16 graduate degree programs. The campus is also a regional center for cultural and athletic activities.

Onstad hopes to return CLC wrestling limelight

By JANNAN J. KHURI
Correspondent

Wrestling is back at the College of Lake County and even though numbers are short, first-year head coach Curt Onstad is expecting big things from this year's team.

Last year, the Lancer's didn't have a team due to the previous coach retiring, according to Onstad.

Onstad said he was instrumental in resurrecting the team at CLC and wanted to wrestle for them but opted to coach instead.

"They didn't have a coach this year and they were going to cancel the program," said Onstad. "So I put in my resume, they called me, and I got the job."

Onstad wrestled for CLC at one time and comes into the coaching position with several years of experience on the mat.

Onstad wrestled at Grayslake High School and was All-American during his stint at CLC in '92 and '93. After graduating from CLC, he joined the Marines where he continued his wrestling career. He took first place at the University Nationals and was fifth in the Greco Roman Nationals. His other coaching experience was when he was head coach for the Camp Pendleton team and represented the US Wrestling squad in Europe.

The Lancer's will take to the mats in their first meet Jan. 8. In the meantime, the roster of five is practicing every day for two hours. One of the main things that Onstad said he was working on with the team during practicing is 'on the feet' wrestling.

"It involves take-downs, controlling the guy, and the tie-ups. That's the main thing because obviously the take-downs are the most important thing," said Onstad.

Due to time constraints, the team members coordinate weight lifting on their own. In order to get in some cardiovascular conditioning, Onstad said they should take time out at the end of their practices two days a week in order to get in some time doing sprints and running conditioning.

Scott Ludwig will be wrestling for the Lancer's in the 141 weight division and so far, Onstad said he's a hard worker and thinks that he will make the national team.

One of the team's two heavyweights is Cesar Castellanos, who Onstad expects to do well this year and end up at nationals as well.

At the 191 pounds weight division is Jitropol Joysumpoa, who goes by the nickname "Joe."

"If he picks up a lot of the slack and works a little bit harder than the rest and keeps learning as he has, there's an excellent chance of him making it to nationals," noted Onstad.

The other heavyweight who will be battling against Cesar is Jason Huntley.

"It's going to be a tough match between the two of them. They are both tough wrestlers. Jason outweighs him a little bit but I think Cesar has an edge when it comes to technique," said Onstad.

Onstad added that whoever wins the battle between the two heavyweights in the regionals will definitely go to nationals.

Rounding out the Lancers roster is Brandon Barnhouse, a 191-pounder who will have to wrestle Joe to be eligible to move on to nationals.

"That will be a good match but Joe will most likely win," said Onstad.

"They are both good men to have. We definitely need them out there. They will only get better and make the others better as well."

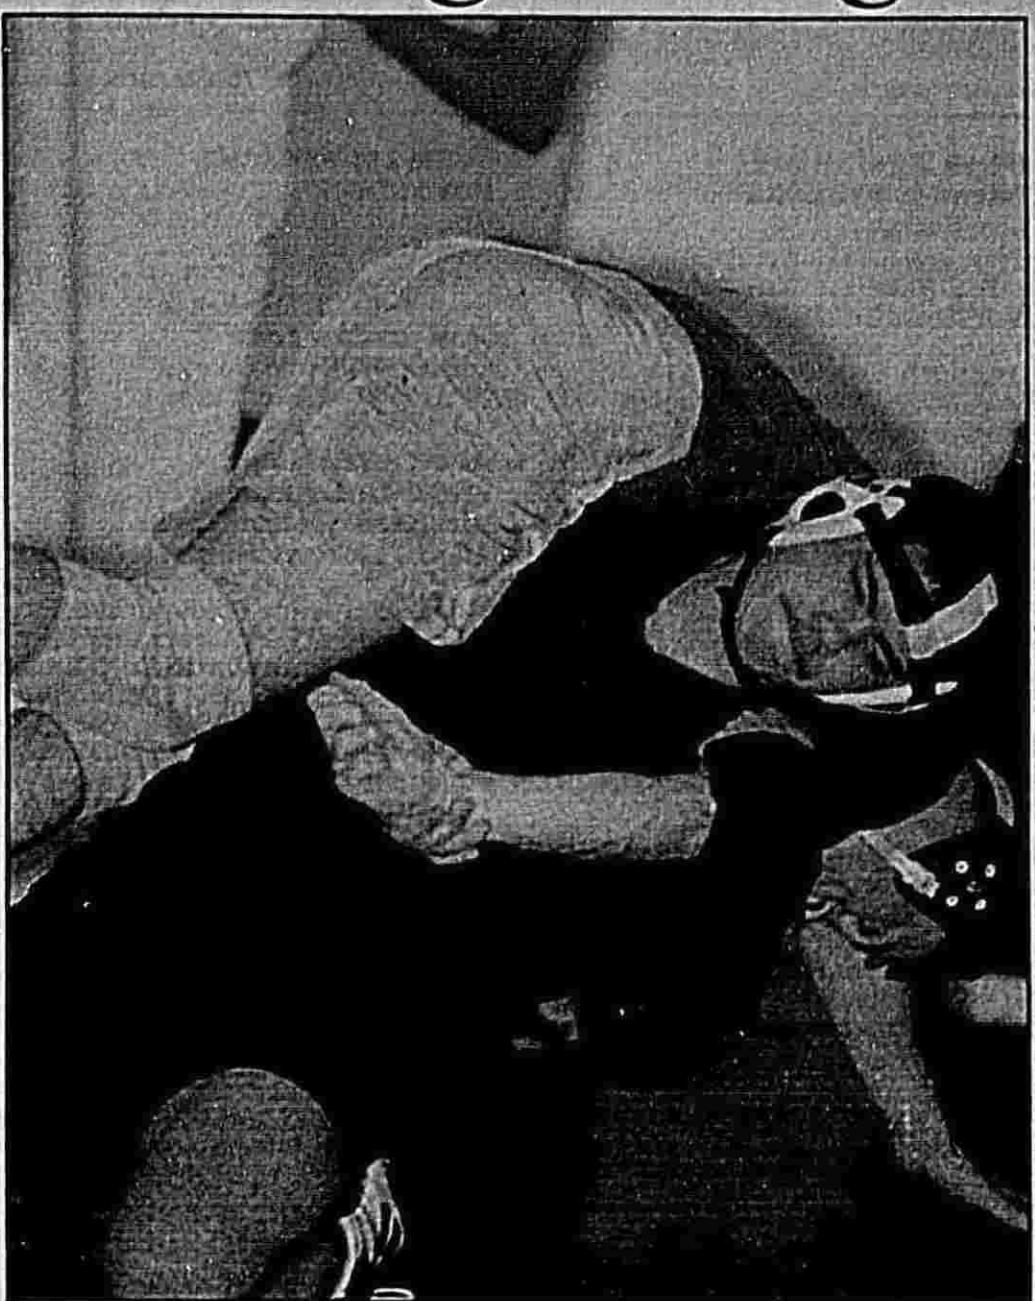

Onstad said Barnhouse needs to learn a lot more. In the upcoming year, he has the potential to do some real good things.

Overall, Onstad, who works as a carpenter by day, said that he doesn't expect his team to get much time in at dual meets and plans on having two of his guys make it to nationals.

Onstad projected that Harper will be the team to beat this year.

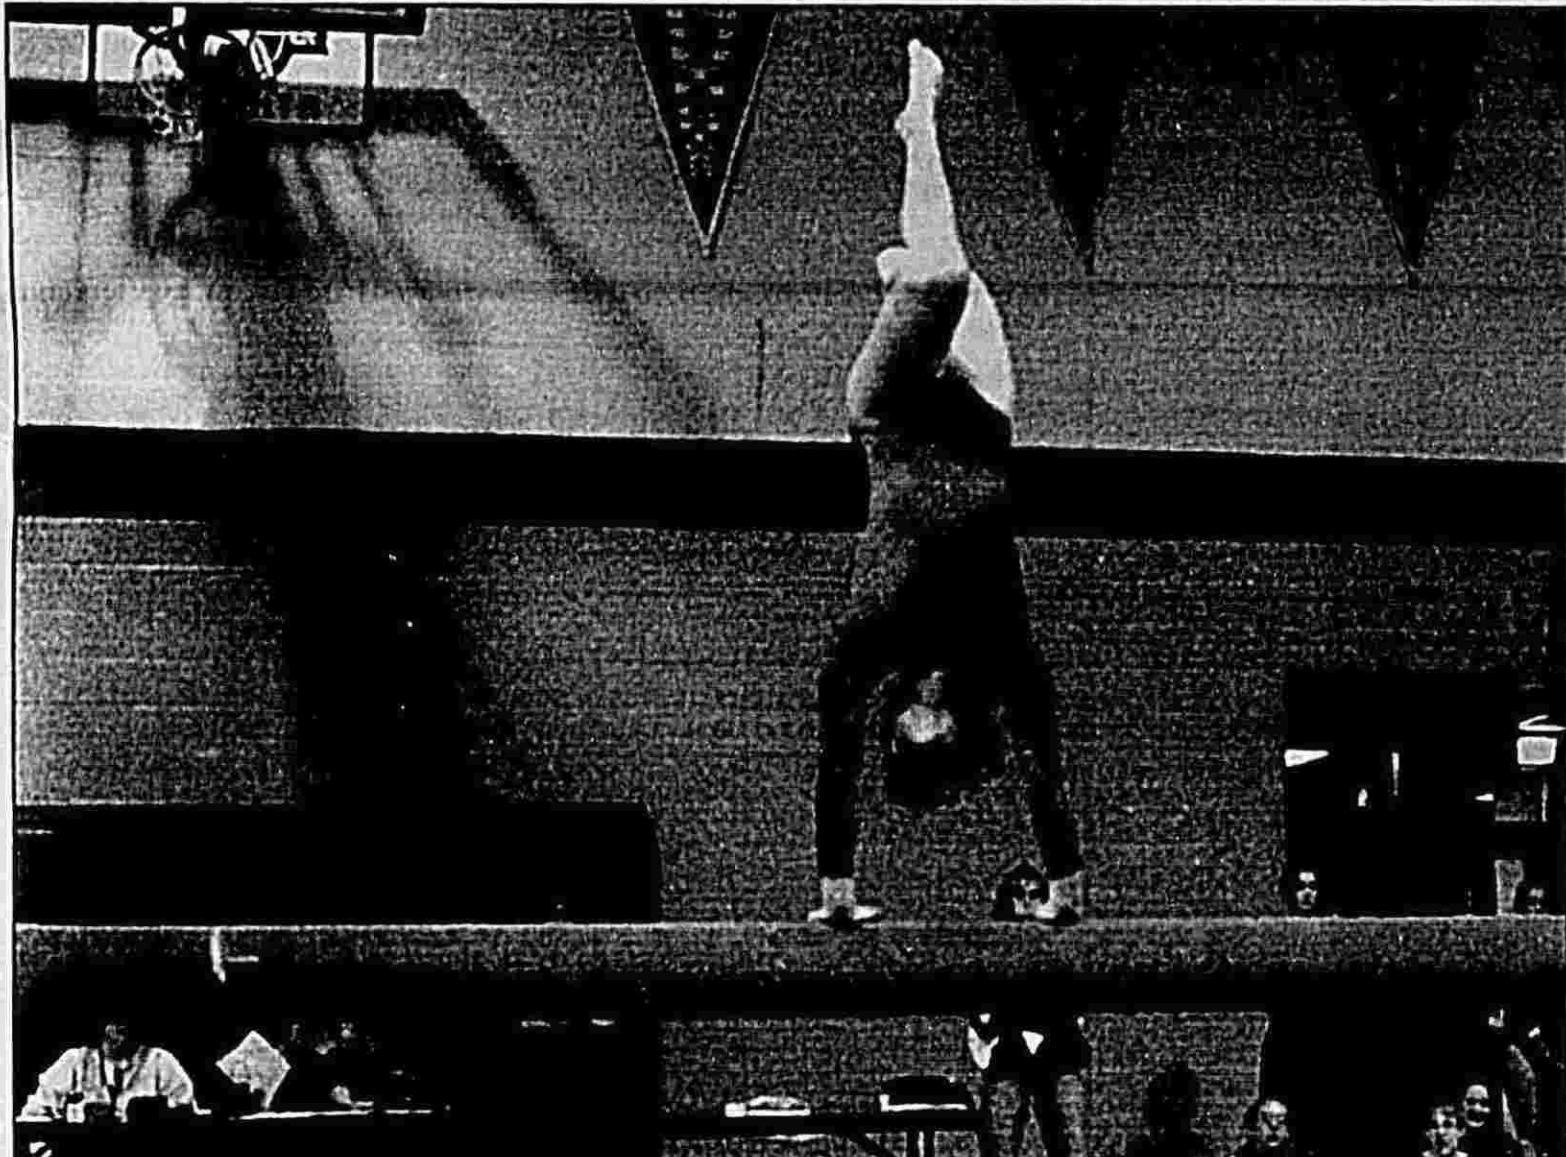

"Usually, Harper is the team to beat. They're a good and always tough team to beat," he added.

It will be interesting to see what pans out for the Lancers. Onstad has the credentials and accolades that should make CLC, despite lack of numbers, into the competitor it has been accustomed to being.

Game one went into overtime as Grass Lake Grocery/R&R Video pressed it out again over Eagle Foods 37 to 36. John Logan's 18 points was not enough for the guys in Green to overcome the Big Red of GLG/R&R.

Game two Lion's Club held steady after a slow start over the feisty MGN's Lock and Safe. MGN looked like they might have picked one off tonight early but they got secured in the second half losing 54 to 32.

Game three saw the Linden

Barber Shop clip the Kiwanis Club early and then K.J. put in 18 points for the Barber Shop for the win 58 to 41.

For adult players, submission moves are also included. In a contest, an opponent wins when he or she throws their opponent to the mat on their back or holds them in place for 15-25 seconds.

As a sport, tournaments are a big part for judo players. In the Chicago area, there are over 30 judo clubs, all of which hold or participate in tournaments.

The league will begin play as soon as the weather breaks, continue until early June, and be finished in time for teams to play tournament ball during the summer months. Any coach or manager of a 10,11,12,13,14, 15 or 16 year old team that would like more information on this new league should contact Lake County Baseball at 945-9606.

College scene

The College of Lake County men's basketball team put up a valiant effort but came up on the short end of a 70-68 decision to Trinity Christian JV last Thursday night in Grayslake. Jamario Farr pumped in 15 points and Jim Nilles added 13 for the Lancers, who fell to 1-6 on the young season.

Meanwhile, the CLC women's teams' bid for a second consecutive victory also came up a little short. The Lady Lancers fell to Madison Tech Thursday 55-52. Aja Brown poured in 18 points and grabbed 7 rebounds and Stephanie Wilson added 10 rebounds for Lake County (1-3). "Poor shooting from the field coupled with erratic play were the main reasons we lost tonight," said CLC head coach Bill Braman.

The women's team then fell to South Suburban College on Saturday, 51-46. Leading the way for CLC was Stephanie Wilson, who chipped in 12 points to go along with 12 rebounds. Aja Brown (9 points, 8 rebounds), and Jessica Gutierrez (9 points, 9 rebounds).

CLC (1-4) tied the game at 46-46 on a steal and basket by Wilson, but South Suburban scored the final five points.

Weather a role in one accident

Weather may have played a big role in at least three Fox Lake area accidents on Dec. 4.

Timothy South, 21, of 1503 Turnbull, Round Lake Beach, was cited for driving under the influence of alcohol, no valid drivers license and driving too fast for conditions. South's vehicle hit a skid at Grand Ave. in the rain just past 2:30 a.m. South struck a village of Fox Lake-owned tree, and shrubs and a vehicle owned by Cindy Irwin.

A court date of Jan. 4 was given.

Fox Lake Fire Dept. was dispatched to a roll-over accident at Routes 12 and 134. Dense fog was reported.

Two drivers, John Lesniak, of McHenry and Kelly Olson of Wauconda, were transported to Northern Illinois Medical Center. Two witnesses told police Lesniak was turning left with a green light when the other driver could not stop to avoid the accident.

Another accident, at Route 173 and Wilmot Road, remained under investigation. Antioch, McHenry and Kenosha Counties and Spring Grove rescue all responded.

Police want 'safe & sober'

The Lake Villa Police Department has started a program making December "Safe and Sober".

"In the month of December we're out to eradicate drunk drivers," Sergeant Dennis Geraty, Lake Villa police officer, said.

According to Geraty, the police department will have extra police units on duty and will attempt to coordinate with the state and county police departments on this program.

The department will also be enforcing a program called Operation Staying Alive, where the officers' patrol watch will be more strict the weekend of Christmas.

According to Geraty, the vehicle checks will be watched more closely.

Duck Lake negotiations not over yet; compromise

Fox Lake Mayor James Pappas will try and find a compromise plan acceptable to opponents and the developer of a proposed controversial subdivision.

Duck Lake Crossing is proposing 51 single family homes on 36 acres near Duck Lake and Chris Larkin Road.

Fox Lake Village Board members voted 4-2 to sustain a zoning board of appeals vote which opposes the American Eagle Homes' petition. Trustee Cindy Irwin and Steve Moulis voted in the minority.

The board instructed Pappas to talk with both parties about the land coming into the village per an annexation agreement. Variations requested could be worked out then.

The topic is still a hot one with Fox Lake's neighbors. They crowded the village hall, many wearing stickers stating their support of one-acre, single-family housing plans.

Before the vote, and there was almost no other discussion, Pappas said he was in a predicament because of how the petitions came to the village board.

"As we sit here, it is not always easy to make decisions. You're not going to make everyone happy. I go back a long way—to where as an Ingleside resident, we had to check the meeting postings each day to see if something was being voted on. The previous mayor did not believe in notifying residents. I have attended several meetings on the issue. At a county unified development ordinance hearing at Grant High, county staff said the E-1 zoning would become R-1. In the village, we have a minimum lot size of 10,000 square feet. Behind the property, there are parcels platted years ago and that could mean 4 to 14 units to an acre when sewer comes in," Pappas said.

He said Lakes Region Sanitary District said it could not service the area, that a connection would have to be put in at Eagle Homes' expense.

The mayor stated one property owner has asked to develop a sewer-serviced lot if the Eagle Homes plan is approved. That situation presents a "moral dilemma" Pappas said, in a quest to be fair to all parties.

"There is a possibility there could be more damage to a neighborhood more than you would ever realize," Pappas said.

Opponents scoffed at one possibility—that the granting of sewer in the area would or could lead to higher density in smaller parcels nearby.

"It is misleading for him to say that. Why would we do that? We would have to bulldoze, petition, and pay fees," Kathy Rekar said.

Others questioned the cost of hooking up to the sewers, paid for by a special assessment.

"People are still interested, and will fight it," a resident said.

Ken Wisnewski, Eagle Homes' president, declined comment.

All-new Yukons right-size for passenger and cargo

The all-new 2000 GMC Yukon and Yukon XL (formerly called the Suburban) full-size SUVs are surprisingly agile vehicles that offer the right combination of size, maneuverability, capability and security.

"Customers will appreciate the agility of the new Yukon and Yukon XL," said Denny O'Donnell, Yukon brand manager. "Their design makes them easily maneuverable both on the road and in parking lots."

Bigger where it counts. Yukon is nicely proportioned at 76.7" in height, 78.9" in width and 198.9" in length. Yukon XL's exterior dimensions are 75.8 inches high, 78.9 inches wide and 219.3 long. Both Yukons' growth has come where it counts — not only in the enhanced height and width, but also with features that contribute to their extraordinary capabilities. They include: 40% larger front brake pads and rotors for enhanced braking power and longer life; more headroom, legroom and hip room in almost any position; seat dimensions designed to comfortably accommodate over 90% of occupants; more passenger and cargo capacity with added third-row 50/50 split flip/fold, removable seats on Yukon; both rear cargo doors and new durable, lightweight, all-aluminum liftgate with liftglass — a major technological advancement for GM and the industry — are offered; power supplied by GM's new, more powerful and more efficient Vortec series engines; more towing capability; more payload; more audio capability with best-in-class audio system and available rear audio controls; 4% higher fuel economy and reduced emissions.

The power, strength and precision of the new Yukons' styling reflect their GMC heritage. The front-end design projects power and prominence. The hood, fenders, front bumper contour and grille opening which provide additional radiator cooling, headlamps and grille with its classic ruby red logo, are all uniquely GMC. The overall body contours of the new Yukon are highly muscular producing an authoritative stance accentuated by its increased height and width.

Yukon's interior space (104.6 cubic feet) provides more headroom and hip room in

Forces mobilize for impaired driver-prevention month

It has been 17 years since President Reagan signed the first proclamation to focus a designated week on drunken and drugged driving. Since then, the focus has grown from one week to a month filled with a variety of state and national activities, all with a single emphasis: saving lives by eliminating impaired driving.

December, full of holiday parties and celebrations, is National Drunk and Drugged Driving (3D) Prevention Month.

This year, the National 3D Prevention Month Coalition and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration have assigned the theme, "You Drink & Drive. You Lose," to focus on a Safe Communities approach and target 21- to 34-year-old males, the largest part of the impaired driving problem.

"We have made progress," NHTSA Administrator Ricardo Martinez said. "Last year, alcohol-related deaths on our roads were down to less than 41 percent of the total and these deaths continued to drop in spite of continued growth in travel. More than 1,200 Americans are alive today who would have died in 1994 had the fatality rate stayed the same."

"We have set our sights on reducing alcohol-related traffic deaths to 11,000 annually by the year 2005. That's almost 6,000 fewer deaths than last year."

Three national events are planned during December, beginning with a news conference.

"Lights on for Life" day, on Dec. 17, is an encouragement for motorists to drive with their headlights illuminated in remembrance of those who have been killed or injured in an impaired driving accident.

And during the National Holiday Lifesavers Weekend, Dec. 17-19, hundreds of police agencies will saturate their patrols with sobriety checkpoints and public awareness efforts to stop impaired driving and speeding and aggressive driving.

More than half of fatal crashes on weekends are alcohol-related, according to the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Impaired pedestrians often are on commercial avenues with convenience stores and drinking establishments, making "Purposeful trips" — going to the store for cigarettes, food or more alcohol, according to the NHTSA. Drivers in those areas should be alert for impaired pedestrians.

Slip, sliding away - stay on track with these winter driving tips

If you live in the northern two-thirds of the country, it's difficult to avoid the tricky driving conditions that arrive with winter. We may not be able to control Mother Nature, but motorists can tame the treacherous roadways a bit by exercising caution and common sense. Before you pull into traffic, check the following:

- Windshield wipers and fluid. Be sure the wipers are not frozen to the windshield and wipe them clean with a paper towel or soft cloth. Keep your washer fluid filled and carry a reserve supply with you.

- Headlights, brake lights and taillights. Make sure they are working, and that they are not covered with snow or salty grime. When conditions are slippery, you don't want to risk other drivers overlooking your presence.

- Side and Rearview Mirrors. Don't forget to brush snow and ice off your side mirrors as you clean off your car. Likewise, you'll want to be sure that the rear window remains clear, this often means making sure the roof is free of snow as well.

- Your Survival Kit. Your vehicle should be equipped with warm clothes, a blanket, tire chains, a small shovel, a first aid kit, flashlight, unused cat litter (to place under your wheels for traction should you get stuck), and jumper cables — until spring arrives.

While you are driving in stormy conditions:

- Keep your low beam headlights on, even during the day.

- Do everything more slowly - turning, stopping, accelerating.

- Place a greater distance between your car and the one in front of you. Slippery conditions can triple the distance it takes to come to a complete stop.

- Drive defensively. Keep your eyes open, and anticipate what other drivers may do.

- If your car begins to fishtail, turn in the direction of the skid and keep your foot off the brake. (If the rear of your car veers to the right, turn your steering wheel in the same direction.)

- When braking on a slippery surface, allow plenty of time and pump the brakes gently to avoid skidding. Anti-lock brakes provide the lone exception to this rule. If you have ABS, press on the brake pedal firmly and hold. Expect noise and vibration; this means the ABS is working. Pumping and extreme steering may cause you to lose control.

- Keep in mind that bridges and overpasses freeze more quickly than roadways. Use extra caution while driving on them, and beware of "black ice" when the road appears dry but is darker than usual and very slick.

- Before maneuvering through a turn, brake while the car is still traveling straight. Then, take your foot off the brake as you turn, but don't accelerate until you begin to straighten the steering wheel again.

If you get stuck:

- Rock your car gently back and forth to gain momentum that may free you.

- Do not spin your wheels in one place. This only digs you in deeper.

- Make use of the kitty litter in your survival kit. Toss some under the wheels for traction. Sand, salt, cardboard and/or grocery bags can also be used.

- Shovel snow away from your tires.

every seating position. Additional headroom was created by reshaping the overhead HVAC ducts and repositioning the outlets, resulting in a flatter headliner that provides better forward visibility for rear-seat passengers.

Second-seat legroom was improved by increasing the front-to-second-seat spacing. Third-seat access in Yukon XL has been improved by providing a low-effort, one-hand-operation, sliding second-row seat.

With the newly available third-row seat, Yukon now provides up to nine-passenger carrying capability. Either of the halves of this 50/50 split-folding bench seat can be flipped and folded for additional cargo-carrying capability without requiring seat removal.

If seat removal is needed, it is as easy as unlatching each of the separate halves and lifting them up by their top handle (each seat weighs about 44 pounds).

Yukon XL's 131.6 cubic feet of cargo space behind the front seat is sufficient to accommodate 4'x8' sheets of plywood on the load floor with the rear doors closed.

Ford offers steroid-pumped pick-ups for big boys

What's Big, Red, Tall, and looks like a Dodge Ram Pick-up truck on steroids?? Come on Bubba, there's gonna be a quiz at the end, so THINK! Well, I'll help you out just a little with this one. Think Ford - Think Super Duty. Ford is now building the Tallest, Widest, and most Expensive pick-up trucks on the planet for the 1999 model year. Super Duty Trucks are starting to show up at your local Ford Dealership, ready to go to work, play or just impress the hell out of the Planet Hollywood crowd.

When Ford attached the nameplate to these new trucks, they put their money where their mouth is, and proved they were serious about the heavy duty F-250 and F-350 market. This pick-up truck has all the markings of the "Bigger is Better" Engineering that Ford has pioneered lately, like in the Lincoln Navigator and the Ford Expedition Sport Utility Vehicles, that have taken that segment by storm. The cab is huge - the step-in height of the Bright Red XLT 4x4 Short Bed SuperCab test truck was almost 3 foot off the ground, and the overall height was just under 7 feet tall. This is one big truck, and yes, "Size Does Matter."

Added to this mix was a whisper-quiet Triton 6.8 Liter EFI V-10 engine with 275 horsepower and Electronic "Shift On The Fly" Four-Wheel Drive, and that made this Super Duty drive and handle like a sports sedan. Well,...almost. You feel like you are in control at all times, which is a really good idea in a truck this size, with no shake, rattle or roll, and the handling is rock solid. Most likely, that's why I enjoyed this pick-up truck so much. The firm road feel, coupled with quick acceleration and 410 Ft. Lbs. of torque, made everyday driving a very stimulating experience, once I got my butt in the cab! I would strongly suggest that when you buy a Super Duty with Four-Wheel Drive, spend the extra bucks and order the optional running boards. They are well worth the money, as the only difficult thing to do with this rig is get into it!

After that, it's clear sailing, with great visibility, large side mirrors with cut-down doors, comfortable seating, and a neat center fold-down arm-rest storage console. And let's not forget Ford's "New" SuperCab concept, can you say, "Quad Cab"? Now, all 4 doors open up to make loading and unloading people, cargo and dogs a snap. The press truck that I drove was equipped the way I would have ordered it from the factory. "Arrest Me Red" Paint, Tan Interior with XLT Trim & CD Player, Triton V-10 Engine, Four-Wheel Drive with Budd Style, Forged, Eight-Hole, Polished Aluminum Road Wheels and LT 265/75R16 Steeltex All Terrain, Outlined, Raised White Letter Firestones. These double duty tires are smooth on the road and have lots of deep-grooved tread. They look great, and the polished wheels added that "Big & Bad Look" without the overkill.

The sheer size of this truck demands instant respect, from those in the know, and at the M.S.R.P. of $29,775.00 this puppy doesn't come cheap. But then again, it's not supposed to. After all, this is a Super Duty Truck, and that's the statement Ford is trying to make. So if you want to make a Big Impression, remember Ford Super Duty Pick-ups & the saying... "You Are What You Drive" ... Think About It, Bubba. By Tony Leo © AutoWire.Net - San Francisco ly $3.2 million for violence prevention programs statewide over the past four years.

New secretary of state fees take effect January 1

Deering said such organizations may be hurt by the higher fees because drivers may balk at the charges and buy standard plates instead.

The fees for dealer plates do not change; they expire Dec. 31, before the increases take effect.

New title fees increase fivefold, from $13 to $65, for corrected or duplicate titles or for change of ownership. The fees are charged based on the purchase date, not the delivery date.

However, all duplicate and corrected titles must reach the secretary of state by Jan. 14, or the higher fee applies. Similarly, all title paperwork must be finalized by March 1, or the fee is $65.

The undertaking to issue 8 million new passenger plates begins in January 2001. The new plate features stickers in both upper corners. Deering did not say whether the plates would force bracket redesigns.

To itemize the new charges for an environmental vanity plate, the driver would have to pay for a first-time issuance ($40), the registration fee ($78), title fee ($65), and vanity fee ($94). Total cost: $277.

POKEMONIA

These cute little monsters can be found everywhere, but are they harmless?

A high concentration of Pikachu will trigger electrical disturbances in the atmosphere. Pikachu evolve into Raichu with the use of the Thunder Stone."

Do you know what this means?

Yes? Then you are probably a preteen, or a parent of a preteen, or a big fan of this year's toy mania.

No? Then welcome to the magical—and confusing—world of Pokemon!

Pokemon, short for "pocket monster," is the latest fad in children's toys, like the Furby was last year and Tickle-Me-Elmo the year before.

But beware: the Pokemon craze is different.

Pokemon are cute (or strange, depending on your perspective) little creatures that kids collect. They have amusing names like Pikachu, Jigglypuff, Charizard and Mew. But it doesn't stop there. The kids, or "trainers," take care of their Pokemon and teach them to fight. Trainers can battle others to win more Pokemon.

At the moment, there are about 150 Pokemon characters, and they are marketed on all sorts of products. There are five Pokemon video games, a television show, trading cards, a movie, comic books, novels—even Pokemon sheet music.

The most successful mediums are the trading cards and the video games for the Nintendo Gameboy. The most recent incarnation of the video game featured Pikachu, a yellow mouse with a lightning bolt tail who has become a sort of spokesperson for the craze.

The colorful cards have proven to be the perfect complement to the video games that may offer enticing game play, but do not have the visual stimulation children crave.

The rarer cards are hot commodities, fetching high prices at trading shows and card shops.

According to Bob Bigelow, owner of Friend's Hobby Shop in Waukegan, rare hologram cards can cost up to $150.

In all mediums, children just can't seem to get enough of these fuzzy yet ferocious creatures.

"I could sell as [many cards] as I could get my hands on," said Bigelow.

Connor and Kyle Godfrey of Grayslake are Pokemon fanatics. The powers and qualities of the little monsters keep them coming back for more. They began collecting trading the cards after finding out about them through a friend

"I like Mew because he is the most powerful and he can beat anybody," said 9-year-old Kyle Godfrey.

"I like trading them with my friends," added 7-year-old Connor Godfrey.

Karolyn Godfrey, Connor and Kyle's mother, knows her sons like Pokemon, estimating that she has spent around $300 on video games, cards and other merchandise over the past year.

Bigelow believes that the cards' popularity comes from the psychological connections Pokemon makes with the children.

"It's something that's fun. It's colorful. I've only seen a couple of shows and it's lighthearted," he said. "The Pokemon characters are small, but they're powerful. That is very appealing to children."

Bigelow also sees the main human characters of the cartoon show and movie as people that kids strive to be like.

The main characters are all around 10- or 11-years-old. They are breaking away from their parents and living out their fantasies of adventure. The characters are discovering both the triumphs and hardships of independence. For kids at that age, these issues are pertinent to what they are experiencing.

Pokemon's popularity is creating challenges in schools, where kids spend more time talking and trading Pokemon than they do on their education.

At the Antioch Lower Grade School, students are not allowed to bring their Pokemon cards to school.

In a letter to parents, interim principals Fred Neilsen and James Miller explain the school's stance.

"[Pokemon cards] tend to be a distraction to the instructional program as well as other areas within the school environment," they wrote.

Neilsen sees nothing wrong with kids having an interest in Pokemon, or any other hobby for that matter.

However, he believes that there is a proper time and

Pokémonia: Electronic creatures causing a stir place for everything.

"In the school setting, it is not the most appropriate thing," commented Neilsen.

Since the letter, the Antioch school has not had any problems with Pokémon.

Bigelow believes that although the cards can be a distraction, schools should not overlook the possible opportunities that Pokémon can lend to education.

"[The game] is something that kids are already interested in that involves math skills and quick thinking," he said.

He feels that a game that is educational in nature could lead children to other educationally based activities.

Karolyn Godfrey also sees the educational value of Pokémon.

"When [a child] is interested in something, he wants to read more or write about it," she said.

Neilsen agrees with this.

"If a parent thinks it's appropriate and knows what it is, any reading is positive."

Bigelow points to the social values of the game, as well.

"It gets them away from the computer and out interacting with other kids, which is good," he said.

In a way, Pokémon breaks down barriers between children's cliques.

By equalizing kids on the playing field, children who are considered "nerdy" by the others have a chance to compete against and be accepted by the more popular kids.

Because the cards and the game appeal to a wide range of children, a socially equal plane is created.

Bigelow said problems arise because of the way the cards are marketed.

Because some cards are rarer and more powerful than others, card dealers can raise prices exponentially.

This causes the game to become less about strategy and more about how much money a child has to spend.

For Bigelow, the focus on cost and worth causes problems such as kids stealing from each other.

Unfortunately, the incredibly high demand for cards also makes things hard on store owners. Because it is so hard to get their hands on the cards, many stores resort to buying the cards through a second-hand distributor.

When they do this, the price of the cards is already marked up to as much as 10 percent below retail. For a store to make a normal profit, they have to sell the cards at 15 percent to 25 percent over list price.

Bigelow refuses to do this, making his prices lower, but also giving his store an extremely limited supply. And when he does have the cards, he cannot keep them on his shelf.

As for the staying power of the craze, Bigelow believes Pokémon will die out after the holiday season.

"I don't think it's permanent. I give it six months," said Bigelow.

So what do the words at the beginning of this article about Pikachu really mean?

Well, it means a disturbance in the classroom to educators, more business to store owners, a money pit to parents and a whole lot of fun and entertainment to kids of all ages.

The Christmas shopping song released

Sung to the tune of "Jingle Bells:"

Dashing to the mall
With a brand new credit card
Spending dough this way
Is certainly not hard

Penny's has a sale
And so does Toys R Us
But boy this traffic really stinks
I should have took the bus

Oh, Shopping Malls
Shopping Malls
Here I go again
Oh, what fun it is for me
To trudge your halls till ten.
Shopping Malls
Shopping Malls
What would Christmas be
If we didn't have to go in debt so joyfully.

People push and shove
The toys I need are gone
Oh, great they've got that shirt in red
But not an extra long

I can't believe the cost
Of each thing on my list
Each time I pay, I'm feeling screwed
Without even a kiss.

Oh, Shopping Malls
Shopping Malls
Here I go again
Oh, what fun it is for me
To trudge your halls till ten.
Shopping Malls

I'd love to see one year
Without old Santa Claus
We'd all join hands a' caroling
Or help a worthy cause

Make merry with our children
Spend time, and not just spend
Give thanks for all we've got
Instead of getting more...again.

Center presents the Boys Choir of Harlem

Symphony Center Presents in association with the Ravinia Festival hosts The Boys Choir of Harlem, led by director and founder Dr. Walter J. Turnbull, in a special holiday evening of harmony and spirit on Monday, December 13 at 7:30 p.m. This family-oriented program will feature classical offerings, traditional spirituals, a medley of songs by George Gershwin, and a variety of Christmas musical favorites.

Founded in 1968 by Dr. Turnbull as an alternative to the despair he found in the streets and schools of Harlem, The Boys Choir of Harlem has grown from a small community choir into a major performing arts institution of international renown. In addition to acting as a performing ensemble, the choir "system" includes community outreach, open auditions in local Harlem elementary schools, and academic tutoring and counseling services for members and their families.

Well known for the breadth of its repertoire, ranging from staples of the Western canon such as Haydn, Bach, and Mozart through modern composers such as Ginastera and Poulenc to African-American spirituals, gospel, and jazz, The Boys Choir can be heard on over two dozen recordings. Their recordings include gospel and classical selections (Ride on King Jesus, Handel's Messiah: A Soulful Celebration), movie soundtracks (Jungle Fever, Malcolm X), and holiday fare (Christmas Carols and Sacred Songs).

Christmas has a Jingle theme this year at Serpent Safari

There's a new rhythm to the sounds of the holidays at Serpent Safari in Gurnee Mills. Mistletoe has been replaced with jungle vines and Santa has gone on safari. Serpent Safari, the first reptile zoo located in a major shopping mall, has announced its plans to celebrate the holidays with a new twist. "From now through Christmas eve, every day will be a festive time at the zoo," according to owner Lou Daddono.

Rainforest Cafe, located across from Serpent Safari, will host Breakfast with Safari Santa on Dec. 11 and 12 from 8:30 a.m. to 10:00 a.m. Guests can then swing over to Serpent Safari after breakfast for their jungle photo with the jolly man. Photo opportunities will be available for the remainder of each day.

The other weekends, Thanksgiving through Christmas, will feature Matt, the jungle elf at Serpent Safari. Photos can be taken in the Photo Safari with the Christmas elf and a favorite reptile of their choice. Choose from a giant Burmese python or baby American alligator. Photos will be discounted through the Christmas season.

Register for a free drawing of a reptile and habitat. Winners will be selected each week. No purchase is necessary to win.

Guided safari tours start every 7 minutes at Serpent Safari. Customers can view many rare and giant reptiles, including the largest snake in the world, a large collection of albino creatures which do not survive in the wild, a Nile crocodile, an anaconda, a 100-year old alligator snapping turtle and many others. Call ahead to reserve a private tour for groups, organizations and birthday celebrations.

Smaller reptile pets, habitats and supplies are available for sale in the pet center. Each pet habitat comes with a handsome holiday bow for gift-giving. Knowledgeable staff members are on hand for assistance with their selection. Other items to choose from in the gift shop include gift certificates, safari tour packages, Beanies and plush, educational toys and science-related items.

Celebrate the holidays "Safari-style" this year!

'End of Days' not best—or last—of millennium doom

Hollywood has long capitalized on our fear of the unknown (Alien, Jaws, Pokemon).

Now they've found a new emotion to toy with—millennium paranoia.

End of Days marks the long awaited return of Arnold Schwarzenegger, who arrives just in time to save the world from Satan's reign.

Schwarzenegger plays Jericho Cane, a bitter ex-cop trying to drink away the guilt he has over the murder of his wife and daughter after he failed to get home on time one evening.

His faith in God is buried with his family, and he even contemplates suicide, but is ultimately sucked back into the job that tore his life apart.

While investigating a priest gone mad, he finds himself in the middle of a Dooms Day prophecy, protecting a girl named Christine (Robin Tunney) who was chosen at birth to fornicate with the Prince of Darkness (Gabriel Byrne) before the stroke of midnight, New Year's Eve 1999.

Once impregnated with Satan's child, the gates of hell will open and evil will rule the world.

Some religious followers believe the girl's death is the only way to prevent the unholy union, while the pope stands firm that two wrongs don't make a right. Only faith in God, he says, can save them.

Byrne is a competent Satan, walking the earth in the body of a rather handsome man because the most desirable boys are always the bad ones. Practice as a priest who investigates miracles in Stigmata makes him an obvious choice to play the part.

Both films are similar. End of Days even includes a few scenes of a woman afflicted with the stigmata.

Schwarzenegger, of course, is the obvious superhero. He'll probably never make an Oscar acceptance speech while his performances are confined to accented catch phrases and muscle flexing, but he does it better than anyone, and that's exactly what End of Days needed—a tough SOB who could go one-on-one with the devil without breaking so much as a sweat.

Tunney, who began her career with The Craft, and most recently Niagara, Niagara, is as suitable an actress as any to play the would-be bride of Satan, but the audience is deprived of the details of her life leading up to the apocalypse, (a worthier subplot than how Jericho resents God, but then again, it is Schwarzenegger's show).

End of Days won't be the best, or the last end of the world movie you'll ever see, but Schwarzenegger makes a respectable return to Hollywood that qualifies as slightly above average entertainment if you go to the matinee.

I give End of Days two-and-a-half popcorn boxes out of five only because I should've been scared into spending New Year's Eve in church, but as the REM song goes, "It's the end of the world as we know it, and I feel fine."

The Magic of the Nutcracker

A dream comes true for Dancenter North performers

Many families make attendance at Dancenter North's production of "The Magic of the Nutcracker" part of their annual holiday traditions. For many little girls, that's where the dream begins—the dream of someday dancing the role of Clara, the young girl who falls in love with her handsome prince and dreams of an enchanted land of dancing snowflakes, Sugar Plum fairies and bonbons.

For 12-year-old Elizabeth

Sokolow of Wadsworth, that dream has come true. Elizabeth has been chosen to dance the coveted role in Dancenter North's eleventh annual production of the holiday classic.

"When I found out I was going to be Clara, I was really excited and nervous," Elizabeth said. "I know it's going to be a lot of work, but performing is the best part."

Elizabeth, a seventh grade student at Woodland Middle School, has been dancing in "The Magic of the Nutcracker" since she was in third grade. She said she loves the production because there's always something new.

Joining Elizabeth in a leading role is James Kopecky of Lake Villa, who dances the part of the Nutcracker Prince. James, who is 11 years old, also was the Nutcracker Prince last year and says he's both excited and honored to have the role again.

"I feel very comfortable dancing it," said James. "I love the Nutcracker and it's great to be a part of it."

A sixth grade student at Palombi Middle School, James has been in "The Magic of the Nutcracker" since he's been in third grade. Even when he's not dancing, his mother, Vickie, says James spends many hours listening to music and mentally preparing for the next rehearsal.

Both Elizabeth and James have many hours of intense rehearsal to look forward to over the next two months, but both say they welcome the challenge as each day brings them one step closer to opening night, and the realization of their dreams.

FALL Home & Garden '99

Painting success lies in the preparation

You've finally decided to change that white in the living room to eggshell. Or maybe that rose you loved so much in your bedroom isn't so rosy anymore. Whatever the case, the decision has been made to paint. While many people feel that they are experts at interior painting, there is an important step that is usually forgotten: cleaning all surfaces in the room about to be painted.

"Most people want to jump right into painting and get that new color onto their walls," says home care expert Gerry Luepke. "They do not take the time to clean up beforehand, but cleaning is extremely important." According to Luepke, cleaning the grime off of walls and surfaces prior to painting will aid in the adhesion and life of the paint. If proper cleaning is not done, the paint has a better chance of peeling or even cracking.

Painting is one of the top home improvement projects done by homeowners, and interior painting is a project that anyone can take on. Luepke offers the following cleaning tips for anyone who has chosen to begin a painting job.

1) You don't have to spend money on dozens of cleaning products. All you really need is a multi-purpose cleaner like Soilax. "It is ideal for pre-paint cleaning," says Luepke. "It is safe for woodwork, latex or oil paint, wallpaper, and vinyl." Use

1/4 cup Soilax for a gallon of water. Mix this solution in a bucket or container and use any clean rag or sponge to wipe down surfaces prior to painting. Clean all walls, trim, doors, and window frames.

2) Before you clean, check walls and woodwork of the room about to be painted. Look at the room in daylight and on a sunny day if possible (this way, you'll be able to catch everything). Look for cracks and chips and repair them accordingly.

3) If there are no chips in the woodwork of a room, and you plan on painting it the same color, you may be able to wash the woodwork and forget the paint. A thorough cleaning with a Soilax solution can freshen up the look of woodwork about as well as a fresh coat of paint.

4) Allow for ample time to clean and prepare beforehand. Give yourself enough time to gather supplies: brushes, rollers, pans, old sheets to cover furniture, a ladder and masking tape for painting around windows and trim. Don't skip on the pre-painting duties: have a plan and stick to it.

5) Two painters will make the job go faster, so recruit a painting partner if you can.

6) Take this time to clean the room's windows. This will get rid of excess dirt and dust in the room and also allow for you to enjoy the true look of your painting job! Don't forget to clean the doors and light fixtures, too.

Cleaning surfaces is the top priority when preparing to paint. A clean, dry surface can help paint last longer.

Taking this time beforehand to clean up grime from all surfaces will ensure an easier clean up after the painting job is finished, leaving you with more time to enjoy the beauty of your newly painted room.

Quick and easy driveway tips for professional results

Step 1 — Rinse driveway.

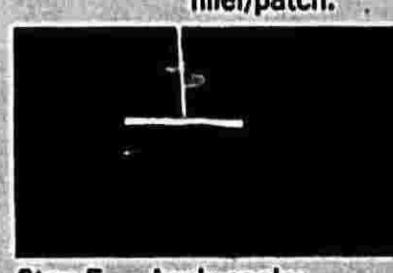

Step 2 — Use driveway cleaner.

Step 3 — Apply crack filler/patch.

Step 4 — Treat oil spots with primer.

Step 5 — Apply sealer.

SECRET TIPS FROM THE PROS

1. Repair all cracks and holes the day before.
2. Turn buckets upside down prior to opening, to promote easier mixing (make sure that the lids are securely attached).
3. Beat the heat — applying the sealer in the morning hours allows easier spreadability and proper time to dry. If your driveway is more than 85 F, lightly mist the surface to cool down and aid in spreadability of the material.
4. Use a brush/squeegee applicator to apply seal coat, not rollers.
5. Brush sealer in a side-to-side motion. Start from your home and work to the street. This will hide imperfections and improve the look of your driveway.
6. Place empty buckets at the end of the driveway. This is the easiest and most cost-effective protection for blocking your newly coated surface.

HOROSCOPE

Aries – March 21/April 20
Get straight to the point when talking with a close friend about a problem. He or she is more than willing to help you and won't tell anyone what you have to say. So, don't be nervous. Just open up. A loved one offers you some romantic advice. Take it!

Taurus – April 21/May 21
While you just want to stay home this week, Taurus, you're going to be on the go. Holiday festivities are starting a little bit early, and your presence is required. Don't get upset; the events are going to be much more fun than you expect. Scorpio plays an important role late in the week.

Gemini – May 22/June 21
Be sympathetic to a business associate who is having some personal trouble. While you shouldn't get too involved with this person's problems, give him or her some extra time to deal with them during the workday. This kindness will be appreciated. Cancer plays a key role on Thursday.

Cancer – June 22/July 22
Try not to fly off the handle when a loved one tells you about the trouble that he or she is in. This person needs your help, not your anger. Be supportive, and give him or her suggestions on how to deal with the situation. You're the only one who can really help. Be there for this person.

Leo – July 23/August 23
Your arrogance could get you into a sticky situation this week, Leo. So, don't be too cocky when it comes to a business situation. Take credit for your accomplishments, but try to be modest too. Remember, you haven't done everything on your own; you did have some help. Don't forget to acknowledge others.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22
You're on your own this week, Virgo, and that's just how you like it. You have plenty of time to finish those last-minute holiday preparations. So, get to it. You'll be amazed at how much you accomplish in a few days. That special someone has a surprise for you late in the week. Show him or her your appreciation.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23
While you don't like to take orders from others, you're going to have to do just that early in the week. A business associate takes charge of a problem. Do what this person asks you to do, because you know that he or she is best-suited to handle this situation. Leo plays a key role.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22
Don't make any definite plans for later in the week, Scorpio. That special someone has a romantic evening planned and wants it to be a surprise for you. You're sure to have a good time. A loved one needs your help with a family matter. Do what you can for him or her.

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec 21
Don't let an argument with an acquaintance put you in a bad mood early in the week, Sagittarius. He or she doesn't mean to upset you; this person is just speaking his or her mind. That special someone wants to intensify your relationship. Think about what you really want before saying yes. Pisces plays a key role.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20
Don't be shy when you meet an interesting person while out with friends this week, Capricorn. Just be yourself, and you're sure to make a good impression. This could be the one for you! A loved one offers you some constructive criticism. Take it!

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18
You have a lot that you want to do this week, Aquarius. However, be realistic when making your "to do" list, because it can't all get done in a few days. Set your priorities, and get organized. That's the only way you'll get anything accomplished this week. Taurus plays an important role on Tuesday.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20
A loved one turns to you for romantic advice. Be honest — and gentle — with him or her. While this person needs to hear what you have to say, he or she doesn't necessarily want to hear it. The person whom you've been seeing stops calling. Don't be upset; there are other fish in the sea.

THEATRE REVIEW*"The Real Thing" rings with a ring of truth

The complexity of real-life relationships has provided the arts with ample fodder. Yet it remains an irresistible area for creative expression. In the hands of Tom Stoppard, the well-worn subject is tackled like a fresh onion, meticulously peeled layer by layer to expose an elusive inner core.

"The Real Thing," stylishly directed by Gary Griffin at Chicago's Court Theatre, picks Henry, a popular, razor-tongued playwright, as its central character. Henry is a self-proclaimed snob who secretly likes pop music of the '50s. He's wise in the ways of the world (as least the one he creates, even if some of it is as stable as a house of cards) but fragile and uncertain as a loving person.

Stoppard leads his audience through partings and pairings, euphoria and despair. In the process, one finds enlightenment and an occasional bit of truth.

There's also some delicious, if sharp, comic barbs in "The Real Thing," especially when Henry is tearing apart a manuscript written by an imprisoned activist his wife has befriended: "The book is like being run over by a freak show of traveling simpletons. (The writer) is a lout with language." Or when his daughter describes "free love as free of... propaganda" and he retorts, "what free love is free of

is... love."

Edmund Davys can be insufferably arrogant as Henry, but he does have a commanding presence. Barbara Robertson and Kate Collins portray his first and second wives — both of whom have their hands full with this strong personality.

See "The Real Thing" through Dec. 12. Ticket information is available at (773) 753-4472.—Tom Witteman

Lack of knowledge of insulin resistance directly related to poor control of type 2 diabetes

National survey reveals few patients understand underlying cause of disease

Lack of knowledge about an underlying cause of type 2 diabetes may be the best predictor of poor control among people with the disease, according to a new nationwide survey released by the American Association of Diabetes Educators. The survey, conducted by Yankelovich Partners of over 1,000 patients with type 2 diabetes, found that nearly two-thirds of patients either do not understand or have never even heard of insulin resistance — one of the underlying causes of type 2 diabetes.

The survey revealed that patients who could not define insulin resistance have substantially poorer blood glucose control and are less likely to be taking a thiazolidinedione (TZD) — a new class of type 2 diabetes drugs that directly target insulin resistance — than patients who understand insulin resistance.

In fact, only 13 percent of patients surveyed who are taking oral medications are currently taking a TZD.

"These findings are alarming and demonstrate the critical need for greater education about insulin resistance to help patients keep their diabetes in check. If we can help patients understand the need to directly treat insulin resistance and take appropriate medications early in the disease, we will likely improve their overall diabetes management. Better control can help prevent the severe complications that may develop over time," said Christine Tobin, president of the American Association of Diabetes Educators based in Chicago.

Understanding Insulin Resistance = Good Control

The survey found that patients who understand the role of insulin resistance in their type 2 diabetes are more likely to have good control of their diabetes as evidenced by HbA1C levels of seven or less. HbA1C levels indicate the amount of glucose in a patient's blood over a three month period. The American Diabetes Association (ADA) advocates that patients achieve glucose levels (including HbA1C) as close to the non-diabetic range as possible (4 to 6 percent). Another common glucose measure is a person's fasting plasma glucose (FPG) level, which should be below 126, according to experts.

According to the survey, 18 percent who correctly defined insulin resistance had an HbA1C level of less than 7, compared to 8 percent of those who could not provide a correct definition. Likewise, patients who correctly defined insulin resistance were more likely to report a blood sugar level of less than 140 than those who could not.

"Diabetes is a progressive disease that can be controlled through proper management including diet, exercise, oral medications and regular glucose monitoring. The key for patients is to understand the underlying cause of the disease — insulin resistance — and how to best treat it," said James R. Gavin III, M.D., Ph.D., senior scientific officer of the Howard Hughes Medical Institute and past president of the American Diabetes Association. "The good news is that innovative new drugs such as the TZDs directly target insulin resistance, which can lead to greater control for patients."

Good intentions, harsh words, lost friends

Hi Dr. Singer,

My daughter is eight and seems to have a problem expressing herself. She comes on like a bulldozer. Many of the kids in our neighborhood and at school tend to shy away from her because she can be brash and brazen at best and really nasty at worst.

Even though it seems that she has the best intentions at heart, she still comes on too strong and offends people. What I mean by good intentions is that she might tell someone that something they chose to wear doesn't look right together. She does it to help, but comes across as very insulting and harsh. This is losing her friends and I really don't think she understands why. How can I help her to be more tactful in the way she communicates with people. I've tried to explain it to her, but it doesn't seem to help. G.L.

Dear G.L.,

There are several reasons people can be nasty to others. Since I don't know you personally, there is no way for me to specifically say why your daughter is doing this, but it can be several things.

Three reasons come to my mind right now. First reason: The person saying these things can be feeling insecure for some reason and that insecurity is coming out at other people in the form of criticism. The second thing that can happen is that the person has learned to communicate that way through watching others in his or her environment who have gained power using those types of behaviors. The third possibility is that the person is truly trying to be helpful, but doesn't quite know how to sound helpful without being negative.

PARENT'S PLACE

Which one of these your daughter is, will be more familiar to you. Before you can determine what to do about it, you need to know which one of these reasons is the problem. If it's insecurity, you might want to consider counseling for your daughter. Call me and I can set up a consult with you.

In general, it might be good to go over with your daughter that age-old adage, "If you don't have something nice to say, don't say anything." Sometimes that is hard to do. I would suggest that you talk to your daughter about this and find out why she has said the things she has. Make it specific to a certain situation so she can tell you her intentions. If you find that it is insecurity based or jealousy based, you can then deal with that issue which will help to clear up her communications.

You might want to do that with a therapist so that you can get to the bottom of things quickly. If it is imitation of someone in your lives that is doing the same thing and getting power for it, it's harder, because you are then getting into, "Do as I say, not as I do." This is very confusing for kids. It might be worthwhile for you to take a good look at all the adults in your daughter's world and see if any of them are, in fact, very critical.

Some people actually feel that they are showing love through criticism. My Grandmother, God rest her soul, used to have a phrase she called, "Constructive Criticism." She truly, to the core of her being, felt that she was showing love through those words. I knew that, which is why I was able to deal with it well. Others in my family had a more difficult time with it. She clearly loved us more than she loved herself, but her communications would be somewhat harsh at times. Your daughter may have very good intentions, but the hard part is, the other kids don't know that, and end up not getting the message. If there is someone in your family who does this behavior, it might be wise to ask them to not do it in front of the child or to minimize it.

No matter which option it is that is causing this, it obviously needs to get resolved. I would suggest some role playing between you and your daughter. Role play a situation that goes wrong and then have her generate ideas of how she or you could have said something differently so as to help the other person feel cared about. Role play often so it becomes a habit. One thing we know is that people generally gravitate toward those who are interested in them and those who make them feel good. If you can role play with your daughter and teach her this skill while investigating why she is having trouble with this in the first place, you will more than likely take care of the problem.

Like I mentioned earlier, if you feel insecure doing this by yourself, I can help! Let me know! It is so important that you get on top of this now because your daughter is at a socially vulnerable age. You want her reputation to blossom as she grows older, not to shrivel. Good luck!

Senator Fitzgerald visits North Chicago Veteran's hospital

Senator discusses proposal for North Chicago VA to share resources with the Great Lakes hospital

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

U.S. Senator Peter Fitzgerald talked to officials from the Great Lakes Naval Training Center and North Chicago VA Medical Center about plans to consolidate medical services and preserve quality care for veterans of Lake County.

The Republican senator from Illinois toured the North Chicago VA hospital for about an hour, talking to veterans groups and officials on ways to prevent the closing of the hospital.

"Sen. (Dick) Durbin and I have been talking to folks here about what could be done to provide greater synergies between the hospital on the Navy base and the hospital here (at North Chicago)," said Fitzgerald at a press conference following the tour. "I think there could be some areas where care could be improved for veterans in Lake County."

Fitzgerald's visit to the county was an effort to advance the facility sharing proposal, which he believes could help preserve care for veterans

Forest preserve gets a Gold Medal

Lake County Forest Preserve has won a Gold Medal.

The forest preserve district was named a Gold Medal winner by the National Recreation and Park Association and the National Sporting Goods Association.

"We competed against some of the finest and very large park districts across the United States. For us to win, this says a lot about what our staff has been able to accomplish in the last 41 years," said Carol Calabresa, president of the Lake County Forest Preserve District.

Pearl Harbor a platform to save VA

By JOE VAN ZANDT
Correspondent

The Lake County Veterans Affairs Council chose the 58th anniversary of the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor to urge veterans and others to come to the defense of the North Chicago VA Medical Center.

The plea was the focus of a three-hour assembly held Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium of the North Chicago Veterans Affairs complex. Virtually every one of eight speakers noted the similarity between the sneak attack on the U.S. naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and the approach being used by federal government officials in seeking to convince Congress to approve closing the North Chicago medical facility.

Dr. James Doran, VA superintendent for McHenry County, blamed a select committee assigned to determine whether any VA medical centers should be shut down for not revealing it had placed the North Chicago facility on its list of recommended closings. "We still don't know why the results of the study were withheld for 45 days," he told an audience composed mainly of patients at the North Chicago VA hospital.

He said the committee's recommendation affects 4,000 patients at North Chicago as well as 632,129 veterans who reside in northeast Illi-inois. In that respect, he said, the impact of closing the North Chicago VA hospital "would be worse than Pearl Harbor."

If the entire North Chicago facility were to be closed, Doran said, the savings over 11 years has been estimated at about $100 million. "That is just $14.41 per veteran per year," he said.

Doran called the committee's recommendation a highly political one. The committee was appointed by President Clinton, a Democrat, while the only one of four Chicago area VA medical centers recommended for closure is the North Chicago facility, which primarily serves vets from Republican strongholds in Lake and McHenry counties. The three medical centers not slated for closing are in Cook County, he said, which is a Democratic Party stronghold.

Through this nation's history, Doran said, the government has always taken care of veterans as a way of thanking them for the sacrifices they made. However, he continued, in recent years, the government has ignored the medical problems of vets such as the thousands who returned from Desert Storm.

"We will not allow the government to make veterans a throw-away commodity," he said. If the North Chicago VA Medical Center is allowed to close, it will be the first of many more, Doran predicted.

State Sen. Terry Link, whose 30th District includes much of eastern Lake County, warned the vets that their recent rally may have brought the closure plans to the attention of the public, but it has not swayed the politicians and bureaucrats in Washington who will decide the fate of the North Chicago medical facility.

"If we sit back and say we took care of the problem with a rally," he said, "then guess what? You will all be here to witness the closing of this institution."

"You have to get your family, your friends, even people you don't like, to unite and fight to save this hospital. You have to work to get messages to everyone in government that you will not stand for this hospital to close."

"The day we all can rest is when the ink is dry on the paper saying this facility will stay open. Otherwise, the government will try to sneak this by."

One of the event's organizers, John Allen, supervisor for veterans assistance for Lake County, said he expects Congress to make a final decision some time this month on the fate of the North Chicago VA Medical Center. Time is running short, he conceded, but if enough people call and write their representatives in Congress and the Bureau of Veterans Affairs in Washington, the hospital can still be saved.

VA HOSPITAL: Speakers compare feds to attack

in Lake County, Durbin (D-Ill.) spoke to veterans during a visit to the hospital last month. Fitzgerald and Durbin have written a joint letter of support for the facility sharing plan, along with U.S. representatives Phil Crane (R-Palatine), John Porter (R-Wilmette) and Don Manzullo (R-Evanston).

A report by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs recommends eliminating many services at the North Chicago VA and turning the facility into essentially an outpatient clinic.

Fitzgerald said closing the North Chicago or drastically cutting services would be a mistake.

During his visit, he said he found the facility to be "in tip-top shape," noting the VA has spent more than $106 million to update the facility over about the last 10 years.

"That report doesn't mention that they have spent $106 million on this facility," said Fitzgerald of the federal report which recommended transferring all of North Chicago's inpatient to other VA facilities. "It's very perplexing how they came up with that recommendation."

Fitzgerald said the possibility of two branches of the military sharing resources is not unprecedented. In Albuquerque, New Mexico, for example, he said there is a case where a different branch of the military shares services with the VA hospital.

Fitzgerald admitted getting support for such a facility sharing plan won't be easy because whenever large government bureaucracies mingle there are often "turf battles." Although he acknowledged there are some logistical difficulties involved in combining a VA hospital with a Navy hospital, he hopes the Department of Veterans Affairs would make the health care of north suburban veterans and their families a top priority.

"The greatest fear of the veterans in this area, many of whom are in their 70s or 80s, is that they are going to have to drive two hours to downtown Chicago to get medical attention," he said.

During his visit, Fitzgerald met with Captain Elaine Holmes, commanding officer at Great Lakes Naval Hospital; Commander Raymond Swisher, executive officer at the naval hospital; Al Pate, medical center director of the North Chicago VA; Dr. Tariq Hassan, chief of staff at North Chicago; and Robert Suskind, dean of the Chicago Medical School. He also met with veterans and representatives of the stakeholders advisory group.

Doug Shouse, executive staff assistant at the North Chicago VA, said the purpose of the senator's visit was primarily informational, "getting out and meeting people to find out their thoughts."

"The senator wanted to know a little bit more about the option study and a little more about (the feasibility of) the Navy and VA working together," he said.

GOLD MEDAL: Forest wins

best systems for parks, conservation and recreation administration.

"Being selected for this national award is an honor and a tribute to the Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners, our professional staff and volunteers, and the entire community of Lake County whose support and involvement is essential to the forest preserve's success," said Steve Messerli, forest preserve executive director. Messerli accepted the award on behalf of the forest preserve at the National Recreation and Park Association Annual Congress in Nashville, Tenn.

The forest preserve competed in the category with other forest preserves and park districts of more than 250,000 population. Among the finalists were Austin, Texas, Parks and Recreation; Maryland National-Capital Park and Planning Commission; and Gwinnett County, Georgia Parks and Recreation.

The park district has been a semi-finalist of the award for the last several years but has never won the first place award.

Calabresa said several factors attributed to the forest preserve receiving a Gold Medal award this year. Some of the highlights of the past year include the overwhelming voter passage of the forest preserve referendum, the opening of Thunderhawk Golf Course in Beach Park, the development of Independence Grove forest preserve in Libertyville, and the planning and restoration of the Rollins-Savanna forest preserve in Grayslake.

"It's a pretty exciting time for us. With the passage of the referendum, the opening up of Thunderhawk and winning the Gold Medal, there's been some pretty big highlights," she said.

She has a master's degree in community counseling from Loyola University. She is a certified alcohol and other drug counselor, and a licensed clinical professional counselor. She has been an assistant faculty member at the College of Lake County since 1993.

While in college, she served many internships including Cook County Hospital, and Cook County Jail where the "inmates were so thirsty for someone to listen to them and help them without passing judgment."

Although many would consider Brock's career choice to be extremely stressful and emotional, she says her tips for survival are to maintain a sense of humor, use co-workers as a team, and be tough when appropriate.

"I can't let [clients'] problems eat me up, or I can't help them," stressed Brock.

She views her clients as "courageous" given their circumstances, and teaches them "tools to cope with anger" so that it doesn't become outwardly destructive.

"Many people don't know how to solve conflict or use anger constructively," Brock emphasized this as the root to most violence issues.

That's where VIP steps in by providing assistance in networking, education and dialogues with groups to explore the issues and create solutions, says Brock.

Barbara Ruckoldt, chairperson of VIP, said "As the executive director of VIP, Beverly is a pivotal person to contact regarding violence prevention initiatives in Lake County."

"Although we can't take away what was done [in anger], we can offer a small gesture that creates peace or sends a message of peace," concluded Brock.

Officer accused of sexual assault

Lindenhurst—Troy M. Hetz, 31, a Holiday Hills Police Officer, resigned Thursday, Dec. 2, after being charged with bribery and official misconduct.

Hetz's resignation came after he pulled over a 20-year-old McHenry County woman for speeding at about 8pm in Richmond, a neighboring community of Holiday Hills, and allegedly sexually assaulted her Wednesday Dec. 1.

The woman is now suing Hetz and the village for "negligent hiring."

In April of 1996, Hetz resigned from the Lindenhurst Police Department after being accused of sexually fondling a woman while on duty and in uniform.

Winter music festival held

Round Lake Park—Students from Murphy Elementary School in Round Lake Park will have a week-long music festival from Dec. 13 to Dec. 17 in the gymnasium.

First and second grade classes will perform with select fourth graders on Dec. 13 at 7 p.m.

On Dec. 14, second grade and ESL classes with select fourth graders will perform at 7 p.m.

The fifth and sixth grade chorus will perform Dec. 15 at 7 p.m. along with a short skit from sixth graders.

There will be an encore performance of the chorus concert Dec. 16 at 9:30 a.m.

On Dec. 17, there will be a school-wide music assembly at 9:30 a.m.

Village tax levy stays constant

Fox Lake—Fox Lake trustees approved a levy for 1999-2000 taxes. The amount remains the same as the last three years, one accomplishment village officials are proud of.

The amount approved at a village board meeting remains at $1,984,029.

"The tax levy is an annual necessity. You have to do it for the services many residents receive. The taxes are not going up. This is huge," trustee Kevin Hunter, chairman of the finance committee, said.

Charges filed in hockey battery case

Gurnee—The Lake County States Attorneys Office has decided to press charges on a 15-year-old for aggravated battery.

The charge stems from an incident that took place at a hockey game on Nov. 3 at Rinkside Sports Ice Arena in Gurnee.

At the end of the game, the Glenbrook North student allegedly crosschecked a New Trier student into the boards, paralyzing him.

After a police investigation into whether the check was intentional, the case was handed over to the States Attorneys office, who felt there was enough evidence to press charges.

MHS safety staff increased

Mundelein—Mundelein High School has opened two new positions to increase safety at the high school. A parking lot security officer will patrol the perimeter ters of the building to make sure no thefts of vandalism occur and to help with traffic control during peak hours.

A night time security officer will also be hired to patrol the interior of the building at night and to escort people to their cars.

Resident to run for Illinois Senate

Lake Forest—Lake Forest resident Greg Kazarian has decided to add another chunk of life to his plate. Last week, Kazarian announced that he will seek the Republican nomination to contend for the 30th District seat in the Illinois Senate.

The 30th District includes Shields and West Deerfield townships and parts of Waukegan, Libertyville, Vernon and Moraine townships. Currently, Senator Terry Link [D-Highwood] holds the seat.

Kazarian said that his political philosophy includes avoiding partisanship and game-playing. As a state senator he would focus on achieving results for area tax-payers, he added.

Repeat offender arrested for DUI

Libertyville—Ronald O. Lindgren, 54, of 216 McKinley, Libertyville, apparently didn't learn his lesson from four years in the slammer. Dec. 5 at 1:41 p.m., Libertyville police charged Lindgren with felony driving under the influence (DUI), while investigating a traffic accident at Crane Blvd. and Rockland Rd.

Just eight years ago, Lindgren was convicted of reckless homicide in a fatal traffic accident at Butterfield Rd. and Crane Blvd. In 1991, he received a four-year jail sentence for causing the death of a motorcyclist in that accident, because he was drunk, according to the Lake County Circuit Court.

No one was injured in the accident Dec. 5, although property damage over $500 was reported.

Public works chief dismissed

Wauconda—Jeff Kuester, a 30-year village employee, was dismissed by Wauconda Mayor James Eschenbauch from his position as head of the public works department. The action comes at the same time as village officials are considering hiring a management company to run the public works operations.

Public works staff is also upset about the village's privatization plans for the department. Eschenbauch said no final decision has been made.

Rec center vote possible

Grayslake—The park district is considering asking voters to approve a new, indoor recreation center this March by holding an $8 million referendum.

Park District Commissioners will vote on the idea at its next meeting.

The Recreation Center, which would be located next to the aquatic center in Central Park is proposed to be 60,000 square feet, containing three gyms, classrooms for programming and recreation offices. The design would probably be similar to the recreation center in Mundelein.

The cost to construct the proposed center is $6 million for building and construction costs, and $2 million to purchase the land. The land being considered is currently open space.

Since the Park District operates on a tight budget, construction of the building depends on the success of the referendum.

Postal service seeks input

Grayslake—The United States Postal Service is inviting residents and businesses in the 60030 Zip Code to attend a village meeting on Dec. 21 at Grayslake Village Hall.

Postal Service officials will explain plans for a possible expansion of the facility at 449 East Center St. Postal Service representatives met with Mayor Pat Carey on Nov. 24 and emphasized the first consideration will be to expand the existing facility.

The present post office has not operated at peak efficiency for a few years now, Len Stevens, real estate specialist for the Postal Service said. Post office needs are ranked using a long list of criteria, considering the entire range of operations. The 60030 Zip Code has 23 city routes and six rural routes.

Downtown club gets new member

Step lively all you mainstreeters. Make room, downtowners. Gurnee is about to join the town center club. The traditional single commercial street, THE shopping hub environment from pioneer settlement days and once the province of communities such as Antioch, Libertyville, Grayslake, Wauconda and Lake Forest, is about to be joined by Gurnee, a village that has yearned for a downtown even as a decade of growth exploded in all directions.

In the closing days of the century, final touches are being put on the Gurnee Towne Square plan, a 22-acre site that will be basically a mall, but with a retail mix designed to not only attract customers but involve them in activities that will "keep them around." There will be a super-sized book store featuring gourmet coffee, live music and book-signings. Weather permitting, there will be outdoor seating where people, especially teenagers, will like to congregate.

Mayor Dick Welton, perhaps missing the subtle difference in the flavor of Gurnee Towne Square, hailed the development that will be open in time for the year 2000 Christmas season as "a great shopping center." Welton is unchallenged in recognizing successful malls.

In Lake County, there's no exclusivity in the downtown club. Several other communities are working feverishly to get town centers established. Among them are Lake Zurich and Lincolnshire. That's wonderful. We're old-fashioned. Every town ought to have an identifiable downtown. The more the merrier.

Safety rests with manpower

Sheriff Gary Del Re doesn't want to be cast as the "Grinch Who Stole Christmas" or be considered a New Year's Eve kill-joy. He just wants to make sure all of his Lake County constituents have a safe holiday.

In an unprecedented deployment of law enforcement personnel, eight fully-staffed temporary sheriff's department substations will be in operation New Year's Eve through Jan. 4 to bring normal activity closer to the grassroots level. There will be a sheriff's office presence at Beach Park Village Hall, Wadsworth Village Hall, Warren Township offices, Riverwoods Village Hall, Lake Villa Township, Grant Township, Long Grove Village Hall and North Barrington Village Hall. Highway patrols also will be stepped up for the holidays.

Lake County has additional money to spend for highway safety through a $177,272 grant from the Illinois Department of Transportation's Safe Communities initiative. Grant monies will be utilized to operate roadside sobriety checkpoints. Intensified activity in the sheriff's office will be coupled with heightened enforcement by municipal police departments for normal holiday needs and readiness for any Y2K emergencies.

All in all, we will be well-protected heading into the new year, probably better than at any time in history. The only time you will ever see more lawmen than during the next several weeks is at the police man's ball.

Phone war hypes 'lost town' search

As more than a few main street merchants will attest, Ameritech apologizes, and that's about all, when omissions occur in updating a new telephone directory. Imagine the dilemma of a business owner relying on telephone communications when a new phone number falls in the black hole.

"Oops. Wait until next year," is the typical Ameritech reply. That stock answer, though, won't do in the case of Wauconda, where a phone company glitch resulted in all the residential numbers being omitted from a new regional directory. It'll be surprising if Ameritech says, "Oops. Wait until next year" 10,000 times, the approximate number of omitted residential listings. As an added insult, Ameritech blew off the correct address for the Wauconda Village Hall and had a wrong phone number listed for the village in the local government directory. Some times you just can't win.

Village Trustee Gail Wittenberg is so incensed with Ameritech that she's declared a personal war on the communications giant. "We're the town Ameritech forgot," bristles the Wauconda official. Nothing short of a complete reprint of the new directory will satisfy her. Ameritech is handling the mega-gaff gingerly. At least the company hasn't intoned its shop-worn standby yet, "Oops. Wait until next year."

VIEWPOINT

Cyber shopping misses the point

Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house, not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse. That's because all the Internet Christmas shoppers were nursing carpal tunnel symptoms. What a pity.

Cyber-shoppers don't know what they're missing. Yuletide sights. Sounds and smells of the holidays. The warm feeling of mainstreet gift shopping with a chance to meet friends and neighbors. Even the hustle and bustle of mall shopping has a certain charm. Gets you out of the house, anyway.

A virtual Yuletide shopping tour is being hailed as the way to: Avoid crowds (miss the best show in town), save time (what else is so pressing this time of year?), save money (maybe), and maintain your sanity (isn't it kind of fun to get a little wacky sometimes?).

The 1999 Christmas.com shopping experience could be a high point. Politicians already are computing lost sales taxes due to gift shopping on the net. Instead of sugar plums, the pols are envisioning a new wave of Internet regulations that could make it "no no no" for cyber-shoppers instead of "ho ho ho."

Jumbo pointsettias

Local greenhouses are offering mega-sized pointsettias this Yule-tide, the result, we're told, of all those 90 degree plus days in July and August. Pointsettias literally exploded in size. Here's a 1999 twist on decorating. The viagra-sized pointsettias are replacing live

Christmas trees.

Another sell out

This just in. You can make other plans for Jan. 21, 22 and 23. The 15th annual Cub convention at Chicago Hilton & Towers is a sell-out, just like Wrigley Field during most of the summer. Cub fans either are baseball's most loyal or the dxxxx Shhh. We can't bring ourselves to use the 'D' word.

Judicial decision

Passage of a new judicial pension bill in the Illinois General Assembly has two of Lake County's most respected jurists thinking about mothballing their black robes. Long-time Circuit Judges Charles Scott and Bernard Drew reportedly are mulling the attraction of private life. Their retirement would create ripples that would result in waves crashing on the shore lined with lawyers who long for a seat on the bench.

Pleasing the boss

Doug Ploss, the Antioch commercial artist who is as quick with a quip as he is his pen, sends along a sure-fire formula for the new millennium on how to please the boss. Always give 100 percent. Doug's road map for winning job effort is 12% Monday, 23% Tuesday, 40% Wednesday, 20% Thursday and 5% Friday.

Good cause

In the spirit of giving that engulfs the holidays, here's a great cause. Two hundred students at Zion-Benton High are developing good citizenship and learning responsibility and patriotism as cadets in the Naval Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps. Capt. R.T. Myers, USN, in charge of the unit, advised this column of the need for donations to support field-trips and competitions.

The unit (one of two in Lake County) consistently ranks high in national competition in drill and color guard, academics, athletics, navigation and marksmanship. Captain Myers, Master Chief Dick Fietag and Master Chief Bob Auger can answer questions about the unit by calling 847-746-1202 ext. 265.

One man's family

A four-legged partner never ceases to make a daily adventure out of the gyrations that purport to be our morning exercises. Sadie, the new golden retriever pup, can't resist gnawing on pop's big toe, tugging on his T-shirt or applying a wet-tongue facial. Just keeping her at bay is a workout in itself.

Banks on Y2K: Only fear... fear itself

By RANDOLPH S. MILES,
President
State Bank of The Lakes

As we approach the new millennium, I wish to address the Year 2000 date change, its potential affect on the banking industry and, most importantly, its effect on consumers.

While the talk has subsided recently, there has been discussion about the need for you, the public, to withdraw your money from your accounts before Y2K, just in case something goes wrong. This deeply concerns me.

We have worked hard to get our computer systems compliant and to make sure they function when the Y2K date change occurs. Many financial institutions have taken the same steps we have to assure a smooth transition. An inventory was taken of all computer hardware, software and other facility equipment in use and then we assessed each system's ability to function in the Year 2000. Software was upgraded to Year 2000 certified versions, which was provided by third parties who thoroughly tested it.

We then tested our systems by "rolling" the clock forward to 11:55 p.m., and we watched as everything continued to function properly. We evaluated the ability of our business partners and vendors to service us in the Year 2000.

In addition to keeping back-up records on our own system and our data processor's system, we keep backup records using microfiche, a completely non-computer-related method of storing data.

All along, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) has closely monitored our progress, as it does with all banks. We are pleased to report the FDIC is completely satisfied with the results we have produced.

If you choose to withdraw your funds, you are taking an unnecessary and dangerous risk. Crooks and scam artists are well aware of the "unprotected" cash in homes, and a fire can wipe everything out.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Conservatives aim to shape County GOP

Conservative Republicans have launched a grassroots campaign to influence party policy through election of precinct committeemen in the March 21 primary.

Tom Forester of Libertyville is directing efforts to elect conservative-minded committeemen by supplying candidacy forms and petitions with an extensive mailing. The filing period is Dec. 13 to 20.

Forester is coordinating Lake County efforts with the Republican Assembly of Illinois, a leading conservative group founded by Thomas R. Roeser, an Aurora businessman who once ran for governor.

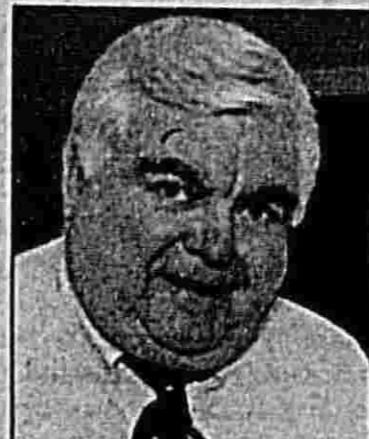

Lake County conservatives expect to focus a major thrust in the 10th District Congressional race to select a Republican nominee who can succeed retiring Congressman John Porter.

Correction

Party Lines was premature in tabbing the county's last political fund-raiser of the millennium. Mark Kirk, running for a Republican nomination in the 10th, slipped in an event Saturday, Dec. 4, at the Lake Forest home of Don and Nancy Samuelson, as the latest "final" qualifier. Kirk is attempting to fast-track his fund-raising. Tickets were $2,000 per couple.

Taking a trip

Waukegan Mayor Bill Durkin has hit on a new plan to deal with his most constant irritant, Atty. Newton Finn. Durkin says he will call in absent when the matter of the TOWN resolution comes up. TOWN stands for Taskforce on Waukegan Neighborhoods, an activist group started by Finn that the mayor considers as a sounding box for critics of the city. The TOWN plaudit comes from an award by President Clinton.

Helping kids

Showing their compassionate side, Republicans are cooperating with the Marine Corps Reserves annual Toys for Tots collecting gifts at headquarters on Peterson Rd., Libertyville.

Family tradition

When Justin Stried joined the Zion Fire Dept. recently he became the fourth generation in his family to serve. His father, Mike, is a Zion fire captain and fire chief of Winthrop Harbor. Justin's grandfather, Bob, was a volunteer in the 1950s and 1960s. The tradition started in the 1920s with great-grandfather George.

Honorary chair

Jack "Red" Anderson may be retired from public office as former Lake County treasurer. But he's not out of politics. Anderson signed on as honorary chairman for Associate Judge David Hall who is seeking a Republican nomination in the March primary for a full circuit seat.

Salvi returns

Dr. Tom Salvi is making sure the well known Lake County political family will have ballot representation in the Year 2000. Unsuccessful in an earlier bid for the General Assembly, the Crystal Lake physician is regarded as a strong contender for state representative in a repeat attempt. Salvi reportedly is looked upon favorably by both camps of the McHenry County GOP party, the regulars and coalition Republicans. His brothers, Al and Mike are filling support roles in the next election.

Feisty, not festive

Fox Lake Mayor James Pappas was not in a holiday mood at the latest board meeting.

The pesky subject of the response for a village newsletter continues to come up, this time from the mayor himself.

He charged letters about the newsletter published here since the fall edition were from someone with a personal vendetta against him. Pappas said the letters are from his ex-wife's best friend.

"I do not like to see village business used as political fodder for someone who does not even live in the area. The village and the township share a fire department, youth activities, which are also served in Volo. From the day I was elected mayor, I took away signs that said village residents only. Fox Lake is not us vs. them anymore," he said. "It is wrong for someone who has a vested interest in my personal life to write about me. Fox Lake is booming and great things are happening," he said.

A total of 3,900 Village of Fox Lake newsletters were mailed from Ingleside Post Office, postal officials said. The mailing shocked some residents in unincorporated Grant Township. They questioned Mayor Jim Pappas, but village hall insiders say there were no ulterior motives involved.

Pols should woo pet-people vote

Seldom have a couple of my columns kindled as much response as the recent ones about our dear old family dog going blind and then dying of cancer.

Sympathy cards, letters and phone calls came pouring in—well, at least trickling in.

But it told me something in my meager corner that might be a message on a larger scale for all those guys who want to be our next president.

Don't overlook the animal lovers' vote.

Presidential candidates already are scrambling to pocket the labor-union vote, the teachers-union vote, the tree huggers' vote, the protect-the-sea-turtles vote and all the other coveted constituencies—the boomers, the gray panthers, the soccer moms, etc., etc.

But maybe they're overlooking the millions of people whose pets are among their most important possessions. For example, an elderly lady I bumped into the other day in our supermarket's pet-supply lane.

She was piling dozens of cans of cat food in her grocery cart and informed me, "I have eight cats! I don't have any children, so they are my babies."

When Jim Edgar was our governor, his Christmas cards featured a photo of him in front of a cozy hearth with his lovely wife Brenda, his teen-age son and daughter, and their loyal family dog.

So far, neither of the current Democratic candidates for president, nor the half-dozen Republican hopefuls, have been seen posing with a pet cat or dog. Next time they gather for a debate, I suggest each one bring along a faithful dog companion to sit beside his chair.

Two years ago, Bill Clinton, who already had a family cat named Socks in the White House, adopted a chocolate Labrador puppy named Buddy. Clinton's press secretary said the president was only heeding Harry Truman's advice: "If you want a friend in Washington, get a dog."

It was a clever political move. Fifty-five million dog owners can identify with a president who likes poodles. Almost all of our First Families, dating back to George Washington, have had a First Dog; some have had several.

Franklin Roosevelt's famous dog, Fala, received more mail than the president. Another FDR dog, Winks, was a naughty dog; he gobbled up 18 breakfasts that had been laid out.

When Gerald Ford's golden retriever Liberty gave birth to eight pups the White House had a rubber stamp of her paw print made to "autograph" the photos the public demanded.

Calvin Coolidge's several collies and Airedales were dressed in bonnets for the annual White House Easter egg hunt.

President George Bush's dogs, J. Fred and Millie, wrote "wag-and-tell" books about life in the White House (with some help from Barbara Bush). The book sales raised more than a million dollars for charities.

I suggest the person who would be our next president appeal to cat fanciers by promising to make Spay Day USA, in late February, a national observance.

Speaking of cat people, Abraham Lincoln once postponed the Civil War briefly when he visited the camp of General Grant and heard three half-frozen, hungry kittens meowing. Lincoln gently gathered them up and found a warm home for them.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bonnie has been a busy body

Mr. Pappas, a candidate for the Lake County Board, insinuated in the article published the week of Oct. 29 in the Fox Lake Press, that Bonnie Thomson Carter, the incumbent County Board member had done little during her term for District 5.

To the contrary, as president of the board of trustees of the Village of Volo, I would like to point out just a few of many positive things that Bonnie has accomplished for our district.

First, with Bonnie's guidance and active support, the Lake County Forest District purchased over 500 acres in Wauconda Township including the Nelson Farm.

Second, Bonnie was ready to help the Krueger family when they faced a serious flooding and storm water retention problem due to improperly installed drains on an adjacent property.

Most importantly, Bonnie was instrumental in convincing Volo to be the first community in her District to enact the new School Impact Fee Ordinance on May 12, 1998, raising impact fees up to $4,800 on single family homes. After that other communities fell in line.

The $900 Impact Fee you refer to is comparable with the neighboring villages and county impact fees at the time.

Volo may not agree with every position taken by Bonnie Carter, but Bonnie must be given credit when credit is due.

Political endorsement

Ever since Fox Lake Mayor Jim Pappas announced his candidacy for the County Board seat in District 5, there has been a marked increase in attention paid to Fox Lake in your editorial pages. Naturally, I'm pleased to see increased coverage of village affairs. However, I note that Party Lines is something more than just a "column of political opinions," it has come down firmly on Carter's side; always painting her in the most positive light and mentioning Pappas only in negative terms. You are certainly entitled to your opinion.

I do wish one thing: if you endorse Carter, be upfront about it. Don't hide behind the byline of "staff reports" or the disingenuous phrase "political opinion." Say what you think and sign your name to it.

Indeck on tap

The Libertyville Plan Commission has now conducted three public hearings to determine if Indeck/Libertyville LLC will be able to add a use to one of Libertyville's zoning district. The company's intent is to build a peaker power plant within the Village limits. The hearings have been conducted with the intent of informing the Plan Commission and the public about the various aspects of such an installation which concerns all of us. To date, the issue of air quality has been thoroughly covered. Testimony has been given, cross examination has taken place, and members of the public have been given ample opportunity to question the expert witnesses. We have heard serious challenges to Indeck's claims that negative effects of their power plant on air quality will be minimal. Interpretations and assumptions regarding emission assessments were brought into question both by legal and environmental representatives as well as by the people who attended.

There is great value in a process such as this. Those who attend are able to educate themselves about the wide-reaching ramifications of bringing merchant power plants into highly residential communities. It is especially important to be well-informed since there have recently been similar applications in other parts of Lake County.

The next hearing will cover the question of need. Is there a legitimate need for a power plant in Libertyville? The hearing will be held on Dec. 15 at 7 p.m. at the Marytown Conference Center, 1600 W. Park Ave., Libertyville. Parking is ample, the room facilities are excellent. I urge all who have a concern about quality of life in Lake County to attend the Dec. 15 and subsequent hearings.

Concerned Citizens of Lake County

COMMENTARY: Banks should be ready

In no time. To avoid these risks, remember that a bank is the safest place to keep money during the Y2K date change. Deposits at a FDIC insured bank or savings association will continue to be protected up to $100,000 by the FDIC—call or stop in to make sure your funds are insured. Remember, no one has ever lost a penny of FDIC insured funds.

Over New Year, we recommend taking as much cash you normally would for a three day holiday weekend. Keep all financial records and statements through January of 2000, and if you feel you must withdraw money, take a cashiers check or deposit your funds in a safe deposit box. Most vaults rely on mechanical systems not operated by computers.

For more information about the efforts of bank regulators in regard to the Year 2000 date change, visit the FDIC's Y2K page on the Internet at www.fdic.gov/about/y2k.

I feel I speak for many financial institutions when I say that we look forward to offering the excellent service you have come to recognize from us through the millennium.

Buying a business: Don't be The Greater Fool

(First of two parts)

I have a theory about selling a business. Sometimes it is easier to find a fool than a qualified buyer. There is an old saying that no matter how big the fool, there is always a bigger fool to admire him.

I often see this theory proved when a business is about to change hands. A new potential owner will ignore business danger signals, take a seller's word for gospel and wade in deep.

Please stay with me here. I'm not saying that everyone selling a business will misrepresent the business or try to cheat a potential buyer. There are many honest people who have legitimate reasons for selling their businesses.

However, I see many so called "exciting opportunities" turn into "costly disasters" when buyers don't look before they leap. Let me share some real life examples. I've changed the names and business types to protect individuals and businesses.

True buyer beware stories

Mary took early retirement and used some of her retirement savings to purchase a small business complete with building and equipment. The shop had been closed for several months, but the previous owner assured Mary that the old customers would still be loyal. He was right. All three of them still came in for free coffee every day.

Mary had to take a part-time night job to keep the bills paid. She may never get her retirement funds back.

Sharon and Terry were so happy to find a business to buy that they never asked to see the financial statements. They paid nearly $280,000 for about $100,000 worth of assets and a list of 350 past customers.

After the sale was finalized, the previous owner came to the business nearly every day and hauled away equipment, tools and fixtures that he said weren't part of the deal. Sharon talked to an attorney, but without a written list of assets there was no recourse. Sharon and Terry still feel they were cheated.

Jim's "friend" kept bugging him to buy a part of his business. The two of them could turn it into a real gold mine his friend promised. Finally, the price got so low for a half interest that Jim agreed.

Jim signed the papers and the work began. A few months later Jim discovered that he was legally obligated for half of a mountain of debt. The gold mine had turned into the shaft.

All of these incidents had unhappy consequences. And, I believe the buyers could have avoided all of these nasty situations.

A word to the wise

You've heard the adage, "A word to the wise is sufficient." Here are a few words to help you avoid becoming the greater fool when buying a business.

There are two areas in every business where there is value. The first area is the market value of the assets the business owns. This is what the furniture, fixtures, equipment, inventory, vehicles, etc. would bring if offered for sale under reasonable circumstances.

The market value should not be

The Cuban Experience Cigar Shop, located at Atkinson Center at 100 S. Atkinson Road, suite 117, in Grayslake has opened its doors.

The concept, according to Cuban-descended Emilio Acer and Ricardo Martinez, is to create a visually attractive store where elements of a Caribbean island are incorporated throughout the store. Customers can buy a cigar and smoke it on the premises if they wish. A smoke room offers patrons a place to relax and have friendly conversations, watch TV and play cards or dominoes.

Health underwriter announces annual memorial award winners

The Loyd M. Rice Memorial Distinguished Company Award is given to a company who in the opinion of the awards committee has contributed notable support and encouragement to C&NIAHU and its membership. The winner of the 1999 Rice Awards was Trustmark Insurance Company of Lake Forest, marking the second time Trustmark has received this recognition.

The Edward H. O'Conner Memorial Distinguished Service Award is given to an individual who has rendered special service to the institution of health insurance over many years.

Niels Heemskerk of Bloomingdale, the vice-president and acting secretary of the board of The Illinois Manufacturer's Association, was given the O'Conner Award.

The James C. Nettleton, RHU

Memorial Distinguished Trustee Award is given each year to a board member or committee chairperson that has demonstrated outstanding contribution to the association and the industry.

Former chamber exec relocates service office

The Office Center of Lincolnshire, a support service for office needs and an association management company, has moved to 5465 Grand Ave. Gurnee, after two decades in Bannockburn.

The company provides secretarial services, corporate identity programs, and list maintenance for profit and non-profit organizations as well as association work.

Shirley Friedlander, chief operating officer, said her company will be known as the Office Center of Gurnee located in the Spruce Park corporate campus between the tollway and the entrance to Six Flags Great America.

For 19 years Friedlander was the executive director of the South Central Lake County Chamber of Commerce where she earned a statewide reputation for excellence and initiated many programs and organizations still operating in the county and beyond.

Under her chamber leadership, rail, bus, air and road systems were established. She also organized expos and meetings that included chairing a statewide chamber convention. She showed leadership in tourism, foreign trade, and education. In her last year alone the chamber started 60 educational programs.

She serves on the board of the United Way of Deerfield, Bannockburn, Riverwoods and Lincolnshire and the Regional Board of the College of Lake County. She is an active member of the Lincolnshire Morningstar Rotary and is a member of the Lake Forest Chamber of Commerce where she is involved with membership.

Among the associations she serves as clients of her management business are organizations in journalism, metallurgy, human resources, religion and others. She offers a telephone answering program for people who need it, her general number is 855-4500.

Her move to Gurnee is a return to her first place of business as she co-founded the Warren Newport Press in Gurnee that is now operated as several newspapers by Lakeland Publishers in Grayslake.

A new model in the Manor Home Series has opened in Fairfield Villages in Round Lake Beach.

New Manor Home design under construction in RLB

A new design in the Manor Home series is under construction at Fairfield Villages, the new home community in northwest suburban Round Lake Beach.

Fairfield Villages is being developed by Kenar, L.L.C. and will include a total of 345 homes in the heart of the Chain O' Lakes resort region. The master-planned community is adjacent to Long Lake and has a country setting with rolling terrain, 71 acres of park district open space, wooded areas of mature trees, wetlands, park land and scenic views. Shade trees and five ponds provide wooded views for many homes.

To enhance the resort ambiance, Fairfield Villages will include a clubhouse with an outdoor pool, tennis court and fitness center. In addition, water sports, golf, horseback riding and other recreational activities are abundant in the Chain O' Lakes area.

Buyers have a choice of two Kenar neighborhoods, one of which will include 220 Manor Homes while the other is planned for 125 townhomes. Base prices range from $96,900 to $98,900 for the manor homes, and from $99,900 to $108,900 for the townhomes.

The Andover is expected to be ready for viewing in early spring. In the meantime, four other Manor Home models and three townhome models are open for viewing. The other Manor Homes designs range in size from 1,002 to 1,067 sq.-ft. and all have two bedrooms, two baths and an attached garage. They are arranged in two-story buildings with eight homes to each building.

Three two-story townhome designs range in size from 1,038 to 1,246 sq.-ft. with two bedrooms or two bedrooms and a den; 1 1/2 baths; living rooms with optional fireplaces; dining rooms; eat-in kitchens; second floor laundry rooms; colonist doors and trim; wall-to-wall carpeting and attached garages. They can be customized with additional bedrooms and baths, optional studies and central air conditioning.

Residents of the Manor Homes will enjoy freedom from exterior maintenance chores for a modest monthly fee. The services include lawn cutting, landscaping care, snow and garbage removal, intercom service and coverage under the master insurance policy.

Kenar, L.L.C. has been providing quality, value and affordability to home buyers for more than 25 years, and specializes in townhome and condominium communities.

The Fairfield Villages sales center and model homes are open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, except for Monday when hours are 1 to 5 p.m. To visit, take Ill. Hwy. 12 to Ill. Hwy. 120, west two miles to Fairfield, north three miles to Long Lake Drive (Main Street), west three blocks to Village Drive and follow signs. Call 740-0220 for more information.

The second area of value in a small business is its future earning potential. If you buy the assets of a business, what can you expect to earn as income? And, what return will you get on your investment?

Letters to Santa

Hey kids! Who's one of your best friends in the whole world? Why, it's that Jolly man in red, of course. You'll want to write Santa to tell him all your wishes for this Christmas. On Tuesday, December 21, 1999, special pages will be devoted to publishing "Letters to Santa" written by local neighborhood children. Place your special holiday message in this year's "Letters to Santa" section! It is sure to become a "keeper" for parents whose children have letters published, as well as for those who want to cherish the heartwarming thoughts of youngsters at Christmas. All you have to do is send your letter to Santa's temporary address by December 10 so Santa has time to read them.
